'Copter Topples; Five Die

NEW YORK (AP) — The helicopter atop the Pan American building was turned into a "gory mess" when an idling helicopter keeled over and sent its whirling blades slashing through passengers and onto the sidewalk 59 stories below.

Five persons were killed in the accident Monday, including a woman who was hit by falling debris a block away from the man who remained unidentified early today.

Reported in satisfactory condition today was Jean Koski, of Neptune Beach, Fla. She was traveling with her husband, George, and their 9-year-old son John, who were injured less seriously.

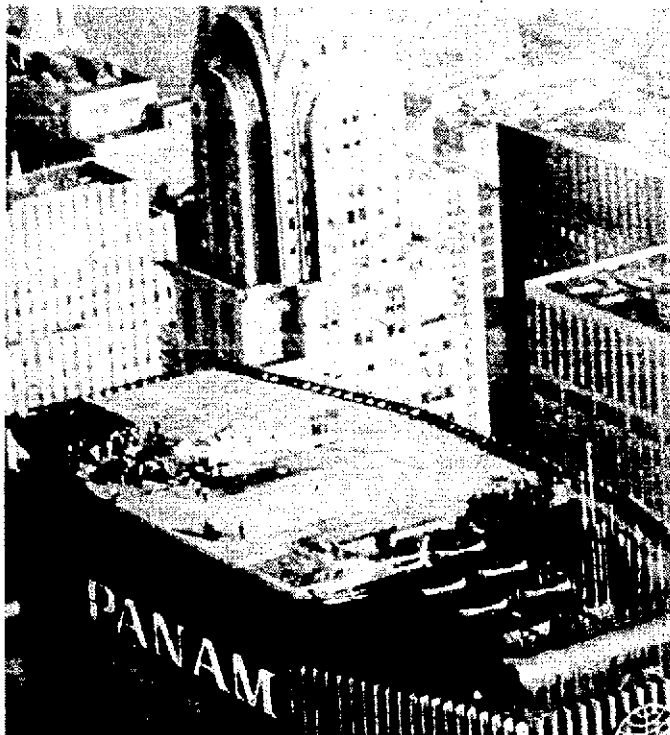

There was no official explanation for the accident, but several reports bolstered the theory of the collapsed landing gear.

"It looks like the right landing gear failed," said Ben Kocivar, a New York Airways skyscraper that straddles Grand Central Terminal in midtown Manhattan. At least eight others were injured.

Three waiting passengers were literally cut to pieces as the blades hit the landing pad and spun off. A fourth man on the roof also died of injuries.

Immediately after the tragedy, helicopter service from the Pan Am pad to nearby airports was suspended indefinitely. The flights resumed earlier this year after being stopped nine years ago for various reasons, including fear of danger. Until Monday, however, there had been no major accidents.

One blade sailed over the Billmore Hotel to land on Madison Avenue, striking Anne Barnecott, 29, of the Bronx in the rush hour pedestrian traffic. She died instantly.

Another blade boomeranged into a window of the Pan Am building, but no one was injured.

Witnesses described the scene as "a gory mess" after the landing gear of the New York Airways helicopter, about to take off for John F. Kennedy International Airport, collapsed.

"There were people decapitated," said fireman Dick Martinson. "It was a very grim scene. There are ribs and brains showing all over the place."

Later Deputy Medical Examiner Michael Baden showed reporters several paperback books, sliced and bloody.

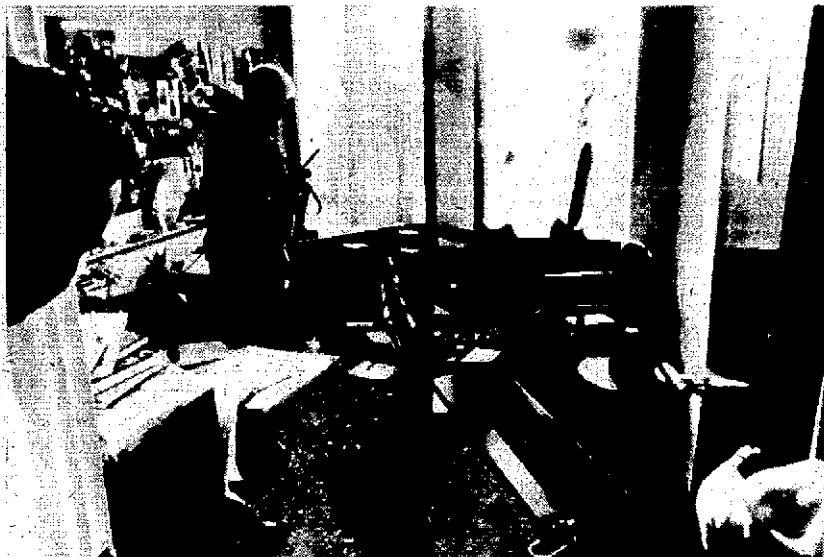

"This is what the bodies looked like," Baden said. "Their wounds were immediately fatal."

The four rooftop victims were believed to have been among those waiting to board the craft for the return trip to Kennedy Airport, said an airline spokesman.

They were identified as Enrico Gnaga, 45, of Milan, Italy, who died at Bellevue Hospital; David Toomey of Montclair, N.J.; Michael Findley of Manhattan, and a

Massive Blackout 'Turns Off' Florida

MIAMI (AP) — Buzzing dental drills fell silent. Elevators stopped between floors. Drawbridges gaped open, clogging major traffic arteries. People couldn't buy gasoline or even withdraw money from banks.

The blame for the chaos went to a faulty $50 relay switch that short-circuited on Monday and caused a blackout affecting almost three million people over 15,000 square miles in south Florida.

No deaths or injuries were attributed to the outage, which lasted seven hours in some places.

A dentist in Miramar, southeast of Fort Lauderdale, said he was fixing a man's mouth plate when the power went off.

"I was just to the point of smoothing everything out," he said. "He's going to spend the day with a very rough mouth."

Carolyn Cutting, a hairdresser, said customers were sent home in rollers. "It's amazing how dependent we are on electricity," she said.

The sudden loss of power kicked on emergency generators — except at Miami Beach's Mt. Sinai Hospital. Surgeons there successfully finished an open-heart operation by flashlight.

The outage also stopped pumps at service stations, cooled off food at restaurants and stopped registers at banks.

"We can't pump gas, we can't work on cars. Even our tools are power," lamented Jay Tillman, owner of a Miramar service station, during the blackout. "I tried to get some lunch and can't even get a cup of coffee."

"I can't make a deposit at my bank. I went down there and everybody's just standing around because their machines are all electric."

The short circuit shut down a nuclear-fueled generator at Turkey Point south of Miami at 10:12 a.m. (EDT), said officials of the Florida Power & Light Co.

For a shaky 12 minutes, automatic devices allowed other generating units in the giant utility's network to absorb the loss.

But attempts to keep the juice flowing failed at 10:24 a.m. as major plants toppled. Operators manually shut down one nuclear unit because of wide fluctuations in voltage. That triggered the automatic shutdown of five oil-fueled generators.

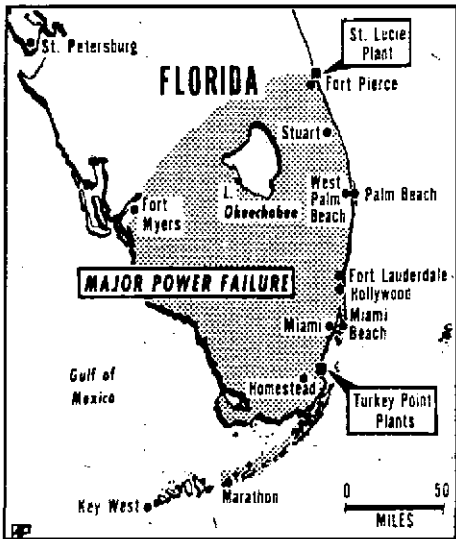

In short order, FPL customers from Marathon in the Florida Keys up the coast to St. Lucie, just north of Fort Pierce, were without power. The outage stretched across the state to Naples on the Gulf Coast.

Some were without power until shortly before 5 p.m. Others, such as those in Naples, were out for about 10 minutes.

FPL, the state's largest power company, isolated the northern half of its system in order to maintain service in North and Central Florida.

"We were lucky it was a balmy, breezy day," said an FPL spokesman. "It helped cool off buildings and tempers. And it's a good thing it didn't happen at night."

Life Savers To Expand In Holland

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP) — Life Savers Inc. will add 300 to 500 workers as part of a $15 million expansion at its Holland plant, according to officials of the candy and chewing gum maker.

Construction of 76,000-square-foot addition to its Beech-Nut facility is slated to begin immediately and be finished by January, officials reported Monday.

The addition is for production of the firm's "Bubble Yum" gum.

Bandit 'Goes Ape'

DETROIT (AP) — Police today were still seeking a man and his companion who dressed as a gorilla and robbed a cab company.

None of the $2,340 stolen had been recovered, officials said.

A man wearing a gorilla head mask and a 300-pound man with a nylon stocking on his head drove into the Checker Cab Co. garage Sunday night, police said.

The men, toting revolvers, entered and ordered a supervisor to open the safe.

Police said the gunman took about $1,500 from the safe and $750 from the cash register and a money drawer.

As the robbery was in progress, two cab drivers came in and were robbed of $67

Converting Jails Into Plush Hotels

When the Berrien county jail was completed 25 years ago everyone at the court house having a hand in the project believed it had solved the containment phase of the local crime problem for two generations at least.

The 60,000 square foot structure built for around $1.5 million on a special millage was the latest word in prison refinements.

Its rated capacity of 165 prisoners comfortably exceeded at that time the jail population accumulated through the efforts of law enforcement officers, the prosecutor's office and the courts.

Daniel Burnham, Chicago's immortal architect and city planner, warned his contemporaries decades ago of the danger in laying small plans.

Before the late Ervin Kubath resigned as sheriff to become St. Joseph's postmaster, the new jail was beginning to bulge a bit at its seams.

Today the jail resembles every bit the dilemma of trying to squeeze a 250-pound football player into a size 40 regular suit.

Its rated capacity has been jiggled upward to 200 inmates purely by some packaging methods which is applied to a zoo would have the Humane Society hauling the zookeeper into court and which is still below what Sheriff Jewell has to keep under control.

Last year the daily prison population averaged 211 persons and on occasion this figure has risen to 291.

For three years Jewell and the Berrien Board of Commissioners have been wrestling with the problem of how to defuse this time bomb created by overcrowding.

The basic concept is to expand the building on its present site for an immediate targeted inmate level of 230 persons. Adding a third floor to the project could extend the capacity to 300.

If the design followed the layout of the existing building, any competent contractor could build the addition within 12 months at a cost which would not be the straw breaking the camel's back.

This is all that should be required.

A local jail is a holding tank more than it is a maximum security lodgment. Most of its prisoners are there for misdemeanor violations. The second principal category is the person awaiting trial or forwarding to a state penitentiary on a felony count.

It is a fact of life today that what should be simple is compounded into a complexity.

The State Department of Corrections has the authority to determine what should go into a county jail and the local authorities cannot turn a spade until receiving this clearance from Lansing.

The new rules now call for individual cells and no more bull pens; an infirmary; a gymnasium; and a dining area.

The Department does not yet require the sheriff to provide a law library which the Michigan Supreme Court says must be supplied by the state penitentiaries, but we can visualize this one being laid down at any time.

An infirmary makes sense for the larger units of which Berrien is an example and individual housing probably is the only means to reduce the sexual assaults which are the earmark of all penal institutions.

Even those requirements can be met on a Spartan scale.

The Department apparently believes the design should be entrusted to architects specializing in high priced condominiums.

The County Board is convinced this is so.

Last week it reviewed the latest in the interminable revisions for the addition and adjourned wondering where it can borrow or steal the $6.5 million which the Department mandated sketch will require.

By choice most airline passengers buy a coach seat. It costs less than the first class section and the airplane delivers both types of customers simultaneously.

Jails seemingly no longer fit within that analogy.

Senior Citizen High-Rise Promoter Gives His View

Editor,

In response to your editorial that appeared on May 2, I should like to set forth a certain philosophy in facts which were not reflected in the editorial.

(1.) For the past two years, I have been attempting to find a location that will meet the rigid criteria of the Michigan State Housing Development Authority for an elderly housing project. After careful review, it appears that Parcel 17 of the urban renewal tract is the only site which will meet the authorities' criteria.

(2.) The total urban renewal parcel is some forty acres in size and I would be acquiring only five acres, thereby leaving thirty-five acres for other uses. This property has been vacant for many years and the prospect for other commercial development is less promising than ever before, in view of the proposed Pipestone mall and the existing Pipestone Industrial park area where the tax structure is substantially less than the city of Benton Harbor.

Therefore, I feel the city might be better advised to seek other developments, such as housing for the elderly, nursing homes, medical offices and office buildings rather than clinging to the eternally optimistic view that this land will be an industrial park.

(3.) I do not believe that the development of a complex for senior citizens increases the welfare population, but that it will relocate those citizens from what may be presently substandard housing conditions into a facility that will be attractive, as well as ongoing social programs so that the residents, as so often happens, are not left to lead their latter years of life in isolation with continued increasing financial burden to maintain their homes.

(4.) The rentals, as projected, are established by the federal government and it is the problem of the developer to construct a facility with the amenities as set forth by MSHDA within the economic perimeter of those market rate rentals. The city will be entitled to a payment from the state in lieu of normal tax assessment to cover fire, police and other local services.

(5.) The most major problem in the housing industry in this country is to provide housing for the rapidly expanding elderly population and to do so at a cost that a moderate or low income family can afford. It is hard to understand why you have taken the position of being opposed to a project which will better serve the needs of the elderly citizens of Benton Harbor, when in fact other communities in the state are making every effort possible to receive allocation of rents subsidy contracts to say nothing of the impact a five-million-dollar project will have upon your community.

Do You REMEMBER?

— 10 Years Ago —

Selection of Dr. James L. Lehman as the new president of Lake Michigan college to succeed retiring President Robert Plummer, was announced today by Robert P. Small, chairman of the board of trustees. Dr. Lehman will assume the reins of the college July 1, under a three-year contract that will pay him $23,500 a year. The new LMC head is presently completing his first year as head of Gogebic Community college at Ironwood, in Michigan's upper peninsula.

"The World's Greatest Horn" will ring out Thursday in Blossomland, powered by one of the most powerful pair of lungs: Al Hirt and his sextet perform in Benton Harbor high school gymnasium at 8 p.m. in the Blossomtime concert.

— 25 Years Ago —

A drizzling rain failed to stop the once postponed kiddie's pet parade yesterday as almost 1,000 youngsters in all age brackets marched through the downtown streets of Benton Harbor with a huge variety of creatures in tow. Some pets were reluctant, including one donkey who found the pavement was a splendid place to seat himself. Named top in the float group was Columbus school, Benton Harbor. Jefferson school, St. Joseph, was named first in the group entries.

Coronation of a king and queen chosen by ninth graders of the Benton Harbor Junior high school, was a colorful feature of the annual spring dance held in the boys' gym at the school on Broadway, Friday evening. Joyce Nutting and Karl Little were chosen to reign as king and queen of the annual dance by their classmates.

— 50 Years Ago —

Cashier Beckwith of the Farmers & Merchants National bank, Benton Harbor, was the custodian today of a large sum of money found early today on the edge of a road near Pipestone and Napier. The money, all in bills, was in a neatly bound package. The finder, a passing autoist, spied the package lying in the grass, picked it up and later took it to the bank where Cashier Beckwith opened the package. Of course the owner may have the money if he can name the sum and give an identification that will be convincing.

— 75 Years Ago —

The board of education in Benton Harbor held a meeting last evening and the session was spent in considering plans for the new school house to be erected at the corner of Columbus avenue and Clay street in the near future. The board is determined to have the school well heated so there will be no disastrous delays in the winter time and the matter of heating apparatus was discussed.

BOOZE, MARIJUANA CONTRADICTION

Editor,

It seems to me there is a contradiction in current efforts to legalize the use of marijuana and raising the legal age to purchase alcoholic beverages.

It is not my wish to condone or condemn the use of marijuana. Nor do I wish to take a position on the proper age to permit the purchase of liquor.

My concern is with the juxtaposition of these two efforts, primarily as it concerns youth and traffic accidents. I would venture the belief that marijuana and alcohol are equally hazardous and factors in traffic accidents.

Welfare Reform Has Problems

WASHINGTON — If ever there was a president who believes in the Protestant work ethic, it is Jimmy Carter. Honest labor in his eyes is not only financially rewarding but morally redeeming as well.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the heart of Carter's still-gauzy welfare reform plan is a promise that "every family with children and a member able to work" will be guaranteed "access to a job."

If the private sector cannot provide enough jobs to go around, the president has said, then the government will make up to two million public service jobs available to welfare recipients as soon as unemployment eases enough to permit such a shift.

There is only one problem: No more than a handful of today's welfare population — perhaps 500,000 men and women — could take jobs if they were offered right now.

The government's own statistics tell the story.

According to the Labor Department and HEW, there are 4.2 million blind, aged or disabled individuals drawing welfare through the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program. Neither Carter nor anyone else contends that these people could possibly go to work.

That leaves 11.2 million recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), the group many taxpayers regard as irresponsible loafers who should be detached from the public trough and forced to work.

It's not that simple, however. Only about 150,000 of these AFDC recipients — approximately 1 per cent of the total — are able-bodied adult males who could readily accept employment.

Almost 70 per cent of those drawing AFDC payments, or 7.8 million individuals, are children under the age of 18. No one has proposed repeal of the child labor laws simply to get these kids off welfare.

And that leaves 3.1 million mothers, 28 per cent of the entire AFDC population, as the only significant group of welfare recipients who might be either encouraged or required to accept jobs under Carter's welfare reform plan.

But more than three-quarters of these women have preschool children, and more than half of the others have youngsters between the ages of 6 and 11. If these mothers are to enter the labor market, willingly or otherwise, who on earth will care for their children?

Nowhere in his list of 11 "goals" and "guidelines" for welfare reform did Carter so much as mention the problem of child care — although it is central to any meaningful attempt to reduce the welfare rolls.

HW Secretary Joseph Califano said the administration didn't address the day care issue because no one has yet decided how old children should be before their mothers are encouraged or required to go to work.

"The lower you make the age, the greater the increased need for day care," Califano acknowledged.

It's unlikely that Carter and Califano are feeling squeamish about requiring mothers to work. After all, 40 per cent of all American women with preschool children already work outside the home, as do 56 per cent of all mothers with school age kids.

As usual, the real explanation is m-o-n-e-y. Carter has insisted his welfare reform scheme will entail no higher initial costs than the current hodge-podge of programs. But as Congress discovered a few years ago, any substantial child care program would cost a fortune — more, by far, than simply continuing welfare handouts to nonworking mothers.

Unless Carter is prepared to face up to those costs in order to restore the work ethic and break the cycle of welfare dependency, his promise of jobs for all families with children is a cruel hoax.

Indians' Claim Absurdity Now

"A dark cloud of doubt and instability is hovering over the State of Maine." So asserted Maine Rep. William Cohen on the floor of the House last March.

Rep. Cohen was referring to the fact that the obscure Penobscot and Passamaquoddy tribes, numbering in 1977 a total of 3,500 persons, have asserted a claim to 10 million acres of land in the State of Maine, and are also seeking $25 billion in back rent.

In the territory in question, there now reside 350,000 U.S. citizens.

Municipalities in the contested area have had difficulty selling their bonds. Real estate and construction industries have been hard hit. Economic damage threatens to be serious.

"Banks," foresees Rep. Cohen, "will no longer finance home loans and mortgages; investment and commercial development will be terminated."

The Indians are demanding, in fact, $6 million per member of the tribes. If this process is permitted to continue, tribes elsewhere will certainly get into the act.

If the Maine litigation goes the full route, all the way to the Supreme Court, the process is expected to take 10 years.

What we have here, clearly, is a fundamental challenge to the constitutional structure of the nation, and it is shocking that the U.S. Congress permits it to continue.

I confess that the legal basis for the Indians' claim to most of the State of Maine seems to me intellectually interesting. It is also a practical absurdity.

In 1790, Congress passed the Indian Non-Intercourse Act, which remains on the books. This states that no land transactions "shall be of any validity" unless approved by Congress. The Indians assert that as of 1790 the tribes owned the land, by virtue of aboriginal possession, and that it subsequently passed out of their control through transactions never approved by Congress.

Options vary concerning the legal merit of the Indians' case.

You can argue that the Indians lost the land during the French and Indian War. Thus, in 1759, the Royal Governor, Thomas Pownall declared war against the tribes, defeated them, and placed a metal plate at the head of the Penobscot River asserting possession on behalf of the British Crown.

Others argue that the 1790 Non-Intercourse Act did not apply to the original 13 colonies (Maine was originally Massachusetts), but only to the new territories.

The common law doctrine of laches (neglect) bars the assertion of rights neglected for so long that enforcing them would be unfair.

All of this is a delight to lawyers and historians, but meanwhile 350,000 people in Maine suffer for alleged wrongs committed by individuals long dead.

About this two points should be made.

Congress, the Supreme Court has ruled, has the power to nullify aboriginal title. Congress therefore should pass a law retroactively validating all early deals involving land.

Second, the status of the tribes today represents an anachronism and a constitutional absurdity.

Congress Honored

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Coalition to Fight Inflation and Unemployment saluted Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., here for his support of job-creating legislation and his "responsiveness to the needs and demands of young people."

Corporate Bribery

Distinguishing a bribe from a sales commission, or a payoff from a perquisite, is more difficult than it might seem. There are many laws, rules and regulations on the subject, but the problem of illegal corporate payments to business executives or government officials persists. It is a question of morality as much as of law.

The past couple of years have brought many disclosures of illegal or improper payments to foreign government officials by U.S.-owned multinational corporations. In almost every instance, the purpose of the payments was to win lucrative sales contracts abroad. Bribery, some American executives insisted, was an unavoidable cost of doing business in certain countries.

The most prominent alleged recipient of U.S. corporate bribes is former Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, who is currently on trial in Tokyo on charges of having accepted $1.7-million from the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. while he was still in office. According to the Japanese Embassy in Washington, the trial "will last several years." Even so, the Japanese national tax office already has ordered Tanaka to pay $1.6-million in back taxes and penalties on the alleged bribes.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and the Internal Revenue Service are turning their attention to illegal payments made by corporations to their own executives. Charges have been brought in a number of cases, some of which have been settled out of court. Others are being contested. The alleged abuses involve such familiar executive fringe benefits as the use of company jets, limousines, credit cards and hunting lodges.

"Businessmen often consider such favors to be nothing other than executive perquisites, due them because of their lofty corporate positions," Wall Street Journal reporter Timothy D. Schellhardt wrote recently. "But federal officials contend that many of the so-called 'perks' are merely rip-offs of corporate shareholders."

A key element in such cases is disclosure, the lack of which can lead the accused to run afoul of federal securities and tax laws. For example, Lockheed and the other companies that have admitted funneling massive amounts of cash to officials of foreign governments routinely hid the transactions from their shareholders and directors.

Media disclosure of corporate wrongdoing may, in turn, act as a deterrent to future transgressions. Starting today, the Securities and Exchange Commission will begin to open its files on corporate bribery, including those that identify the recipients. Former SEC Chairman Roderick M. Hills had opposed making public the names of persons who received bribes, gratuities or excessive commissions.

The agency acted in response to requests by newspapers under the Freedom of Information Act.

BERRIEN COUNTY ALLOCATION

Millage Split May Hold Steady

The Berrien county tax allocation board yesterday voted tentatively to divide the constitutional 15-mill limit property tax in almost the same shares as last year. The split was passed unanimously on the first ballot with no hassles, according to County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke. The final determination will be made after public hearings on May 24 and 25 at the Berrien Intermediate school district headquarters in Berrien Springs.

The only difference from the 1976 tax split, Kesterke reported, was that the Bridgman school district is to receive 8.39 mills, while all other schools except three whose districts cross county lines will get 8.376 mills. Kesterke said the millage awarded to Bridgman was less than the other districts because the amount Bridgman requested for its budget was less than the 8.376 mills would have raised, and the tax allocation board cannot give more millage than a unit asks for. Bridgman's proposed budget for the 1977-78 school year is $2,498,892, and the district's state equalized valuation is $267,234,230 meaning the 8.376 mills would have raised more than the school's budget.

The prime reason for Bridgman's high equalized valuation is because the district includes the Cook nuclear plant in Lake township. Each spring the board is required to divide 15 mills in property taxes among three governmental units — county, township, and school districts.

Units may levy more than 15 mills if voters approve extra levies. Bridgman is the only school district in the county that does not have an extra voted operating levy. Bridgman does levy an extra tax to pay off building bonds.

In making the tentative split, the board used a county equalized valuation figure of $1.197 billion, an increase of about $51 million over the 1976 valuation. The new valuation figure was adopted by the county board last month. Kesterke reported the 1977 millage shares are: county government, 5.425 mills; township, one mill; Intermediate school district, .199 mill; and local school districts with the exception of Bridgman, 8.376. Also, the Coloma, Watervliet, and Niles school districts will get one additional mill because their districts cross county lines. Hearings for objections to the proposed millage split will be at 1:15 p.m. on May 24 and 7:30 p.m. on May 25.

BH Superintendent Given New Five-Year Contract

The Benton Harbor board of education last night granted Supt. Richard Helser a new five-year contract which includes a $1,400 pay cut for the first year, which Helser had requested.

The new contract, which eliminates a four to five per cent bonus that has been an integral part of his compensation, will put his pay next year at $37,500. This compares to the $38,900 he receives currently.

However, the contract introduces a new merit increase clause which says the superintendent can be granted a yearly merit increase up to 10 per cent of his salary, starting the following year. The merit raise, according to the contract, will be at the discretion of the school board and will be based on a performance evaluation.

Helser said he requested the bonus cut because of the financial status of the district, but added that he was not requesting that other administrators follow his move.

"My intention was personal," Helser told the board last night. "Because of the financial condition of the district the superintendent's salary has peaked at this point."

Helser joined the Benton Harbor school system in July of 1972 as assistant superintendent for instruction, and was appointed superintendent in January, 1974. His 1974-75 base salary and bonus was $35,280 and for 1975-76 it was $37,980.

The new contract also calls for a cut in convention attendance and professional dues for the superintendent. Fringe benefits will remain the same as previous contracts, with a slight boost in life insurance.

Board member Frank Culby, who moved to approve the new contract, said his committee did not recommend the first year cut — it was entirely Helser's idea. "In no way was he not doing the job," Culby emphasized, and added the cut in pay did not mean any decrease in responsibility.

COLOMA — Dan McKean, a Coloma high school senior, has won a four-year U.S. Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) college scholarship.

The scholarship is valued at between $16,000 to $25,000, according to Lars Isaacson, high school counselor.

Social Security Hit On Welfare Fraud

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Berrien Prosecutor John Smietanka yesterday blasted the U.S. Social Security agency for lack of cooperation in his attempt to prosecute some welfare fraud cases.

The prosecutor said a number of alleged welfare cheats are receiving social security benefits but not reporting the income in order to receive welfare payments from the state, and the federal agency is reluctant to open its records.

Smietanka made the lack of cooperation charge while releasing a report that there was $24,722 in court-ordered restitution and $38,812 voluntarily repaid to the Michigan Department of Social Services for money illegally obtained from the state.

Of the federal agency's lack of cooperation, Smietanka noted: "Our ability to prosecute in such cases is virtually nil." He said that because the social security administration is reluctant to release their records, his office is unable to gather proof in order to take a welfare cheat to court.

He noted that in a recent case, it took his office two years to get information from the social security department. Smietanka said he intends to send letters to U.S. senators and representatives from Michigan urging their help in getting more cooperation.

The figures on repayment were part of an annual report for the welfare fraud and family support unit of the county prosecutor's office. Smietanka and Assistant Prosecutor John Fields, head of the two units, released the report during a press conference.

The report said the welfare fraud unit received 184 referrals been paid.

The prosecutor also said that prosecution of 125 cases was deferred while the people made voluntary repayment of $38,812 in funds ineligible received. In 1975, he noted, there were 132 deferred prosecution cases in which a total of $40,795 was voluntarily repaid.

Smietanka added that while repayments are increasing, "We're going to concentrate on welfare fraud cases this year."

The report also says 911 parents who were not paying support were ordered in court, because of the family support program, to begin supporting their children. Smietanka said the support orders total $16,567 per week, or $861,000 per year, of which about 50 per cent is collected.

Fields said of the 911 cases, about 50 per cent are men who were not paying support, while the rest are women.

The welfare fraud and family support unit is charged with providing legal services to establish paternity and secure support for children who require public assistance, and also to investigate and prosecute cases involving welfare fraud or abuse.

Smietanka:
They Won't
Cooperate

for prosecution from the state social services department and state Office of the Inspector General. Thirteen of the referrals resulted in court convictions in which restitution was ordered, with a total court-ordered restitution of $24,722. Smietanka said that in 1975 12 of the 202 referrals resulted in convictions for a restitution figure of $11,628. He said he did not know how much of the ordered restitution had actually

Lakeshore Board Puts Three-Mill Bid On Ballot

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

The Lakeshore school board last night officially approved placing a request for an additional three-mill property tax levy for operational purposes on the annual June 13 ballot.

The request would raise around $500,000 in local property taxes and state aid would be for three years, according to William Galbreath, assistant superintendent of business affairs. The three mills would raise some $290,000 in local taxes and another $210,000 in state aid.

On property valued at $40,000 ($20,000 in state equalized valuation) the additional millage, if approved, would cost the taxpayer $80 more per year.

The additional millage is needed to offset continued inflationary trends in all school costs, Galbreath said previously. The district's proposed $5.8 million projected 1977-78 budget represents an 8.8 per cent increase over the current year.

"Even if the three mills are approved, we'll still have to dip into our reserve fund equity, or cut the budget by around $100,000," Galbreath said.

District voters in 1975 approved 16.5 extra voted mills for five years. The new request for three more mills, if approved, would expire in 1980 at the same time the 16.5 mills would.

Mattress

Fire Doused

Benton Harbor firemen said they responded to a call by city police at 3 a.m. today to extinguish a mattress fire outside a vacant building behind 426 Territorial road. Firemen said the mattress had been dragged from the building before their arrival and damage was limited to the mattress and box spring.

If approved, the district's total operating millage rate would be 27.876 mills plus 4.4 mills for debt retirement.

In other areas, the board voted to pay, if needed, a projected $10,450 deficit in the school district's 1977-78 athletic department budget.

Dennis Knola, athletic director, said anticipated receipts for the upcoming school year have been pegged at $18,750, while expenditures are estimated at $29,200. The department has been operating in the black for several years.

The board approved a new three-year contract for Supt. Frederick Schmidt with salary to be determined at a later date.

Trustee Gerald "Bud" Totzke was named the board's representative to the annual Berrien county intermediate school board election in Berrien Springs June 8. Trustee Arnold Nitz was named alternate.

The district's special education department presented a slide presentation on special education services offered at Lakeshore.

Schmidt announced that adult education graduation will be May 23; honors night, May 26; high school graduation, June 8, at 8 p.m.; and annual staff breakfast, June 13, at 8 a.m.

Car Lands In Creek

Berrien sheriff's officers reported a car driven by Mary Ella Fecho, 16, Taber road, Eau Claire, landed in a small creek Monday afternoon when she lost control of the car while swerving to avoid a dog.

Officers said she was treated and released at Berrien General hospital for apparently minor injuries. The accident occurred on Pipestone road at Evans road, Pipestone township. No tickets were issued, officers reported.

TRUCK SPILLS LOAD OF SCRAP: A semi-truck load of scrap metal was dumped in front of Paul's Batteries shop, 1201 Pipestone road, Benton township, Monday when truck and car collided at intersection of Pipestone and M-139. Benton township police said workers with magnetic crane cleaned up cargo. Driver of car William J. Webster, 53, of 255 Hastings avenue, Benton Harbor, was reported in "fair" condition with injuries today at Mercy hospital. Police said truck driver, Steve Huddleton, 26, Elkhart, Ind., sustained bruises but declined treatment. Police said no tickets have been issued, but investigation was continuing. (Staff photo)

Vision- Hearing

St. Joseph Lianas will conduct the vision and hearing screening for 3½ to 4½-year-olds the week of June 13 at Washington school, St. Joseph.

The screening program, coordinated by Esther Kutz, St. Joseph school nurse, is made possible through the combined efforts of the Berrien County Health Department, St. Joseph public schools, St. Joseph Lianas and St. Joseph Lions club.

The screening identifies gross vision and hearing defects in preschool children, according to Mrs. Robert E. Brown Sr., Lianas chairman. As many of the problems are correctable, the earlier the defect is discovered, the better the chance for correction before the child enters school.

Vision and hearing tests are required of all students entering kindergarten.

The screening program was initiated in St. Joseph and Benton Harbor in 1961 and was the first such program in southwestern Michigan.

St. Joseph Lianas have assisted continuously since the program started by preparing appointment letters and practice materials prior to the screening dates, and by serving as receptionists during the clinic.

In last year's clinic 151 children were screened. Since 1961, 3,992 youngsters have been tested in St. Joseph. Of these, 250 were referred to eye specialists who found defects in over 200 of the children.

Mission Workers Total Increases

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The corps of American Protestant missionaries working overseas, which took a slump at the turn of the 1970's, is on the way up again.

The force now totals 37,000, an increase of 8 per cent above 34,000 counted in 1970, when a three-year downturn of 4 per cent was registered.

That had been the first decline in the number of Protestant missionaries since the depression years of the 1930's, but the new summary showed the upward turn.

The figures were reported in the new edition of the Mission Handbook, compiled by the research division of World Vision International, a missions organization of Monrovia, Calif.

It reports there now are 620 Protestant mission agencies working in 182 countries, and that there is a rising trend toward greater use of youths on a short-term basis.

About a fourth of them go on to become career missionaries, says Edward R. Dayton, director of the research center that produces the handbook.

He says 60 per cent of the agencies have developed summer youth programs, and an increasing number now take young people for short-term service.

Besides the 37,000 Protestant missionaries working overseas, there are about 6,500 U.S. Roman Catholics abroad, making a total of 43,500 American missionaries.

Total contributions to mission work in the U.S. and Canada rose from $383 million in 1972 to $656 million in 1975, up 67 per cent, outstripping inflation by 29 per cent.

Although there are 620 mission-sending agencies, most of them are small. More than half the resources are concentrated in 18 big agencies.

Those with the largest number of personnel overseas include:

Wycliffe Bible Translators — 2,633; Southern Baptists — 2,667; Seventh-day Adventists — 1,360; Churches of Christ — 1,296; Assemblies of God — 1,081; Baptist Mid-Missions — 805.

In terms of funds for the cause, Southern Baptists had the biggest budget — $52 million. Next were Seventh-day Adventists, with $25 million and Church World Service of the National Council of Churches, $23.5 million.

The new handbook shows missionaries perform a variety of services, a fourth of them involved in direct communication of Christian teaching, another fourth engaged in helping strengthen national churches.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Should Only The Fit Survive?

Dear Ann Landers: The only way we can have a better world is to have better people. And the only way we can have better people is by the careful and diligent process of selective breeding and selective extermination.

Homo sapiens is the only species that deliberately breeds from the weaklings, the cripples, the immature, the 4-Fs, the incompetents, the lunatics, the criminals, the alcoholics, the diseased, the chain smokers, and the aged. These individuals are the carriers of hereditary Mendelian defects. They often marry each other and beget offspring who inherit the physical and mental weakness of both parents.

Average life expectancy goes up a fraction each year, so it appears that I will probably have to stay around a while and witness the decline of the human race because no one has the nerve to do what needs to be done. I mean make selective breeding and extermination of the unfit the law of the land. — Anonymous

Dear Non: If your plan goes through, you may not be around to witness anything. If the "exterminators" find out you are a "chain smoker," "immature" or a "4-F" you'll be hauled off to the oven or a gas chamber. Someone else had the same idea you expressed. His name was Adolf Hitler.

No Alternative

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing in regard to the letter signed, "No Thanks In Pennsylvania." The writer complained that her nieces and nephews never thanked her for gifts, nor did they reciprocate in any way. Her question, "Should

I continue to give?" Your answer "No" was to the point, but it left her without alternatives. You missed an opportunity to help people who persist in trying to create meaningful relationships through gifts. This technique never works. It usually leads to exploitation of the giver.

No matter what this aunt does for nieces and nephews who do not acknowledge and Christmas checks, they will never give her what she is looking for. I wish you had advised the aunt to look outside her family for the acceptance and satisfaction she seeks. There are many worthy organizations who would appreciate her generosity. Unless "givers" find satisfaction, they are headed for loneliness in their old age. — B.E.S., Board Of Global Ministries, United Methodist Church

Dear B.E.S.: Thank you for viewing the problem from all sides, which I failed to do. There's a heap of sound advice in your response. I hope your letter is taken seriously by BOTH the givers and the takers.

Women Stingy

Dear Ann: I have a few words for that idiot who thinks women should not be expected to tip when they eat out. I'm a waitress who has worked most of my life and I'd ten times rather serve men.

Women are stingy tippers. They demand more service and request a lot of substitution. (Two vegetables, no potato.) They almost always leave the table in a mess. I think they're getting even with their kids who leave messy tables for THEM to clean up.

I'd rather serve males any day. — South Dakota

Dear S.D.: In your field you are the authority and I'll take your word for it. I hope your message gets across to the females out there who recognize themselves.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers's booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 50 cents in coin along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11966, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

'ASPARAGUS IN GOOD SUPPLY' Crop Comes To Market

Michigan's asparagus crop is coming to market in volume supply now, so it is time to buy while it is in peak season, said Maryann Beckman, District Extension Consumer Marketing Information Agent.

According to Mrs. Beckman: Though recent frosts nipped some of the "grass," the supply is relatively large and should be in ample supply from now through early June. About 85 to 95 per cent of Michigan's 18,200-acre crop this year will go to processors, so there may be less fresh grass available on markets than during the past two years.

If you are looking for a quantity of fresh asparagus to freeze or can, best sources of supply will be farm, city and roadside markets or at "U-pick" farms. Some retail stores may carry the 10-pound bulk packs, introduced last year, along with their supplies of "by-the-pound or bunch" asparagus.

Michigan asparagus offers consumers a far better value than the supplies from California or New Jersey, for Michigan grass is "snapped" at the most tender part of the stalk, making it almost 100 per cent edible. Only a thin slice needs to be cut off the stalk and where it may have dried some.

California and New Jersey "cut" their asparagus, which then includes much of the white, tough stalk attached. This inedible part makes up 40 to 50 per cent of the stalk. Therefore, the Michigan product could cost more per pound, yet still be the better value.

Another good reason for buying Michigan asparagus is that it reaches consumers quickly and in fresher condition than if it spent three to five days enroute to Michigan markets.

from far away growing areas. And freshness really counts where asparagus is concerned.

If the sweet flavor of asparagus is to be maintained, it must be kept at a temperature below 41 degrees. When asparagus warms up to room temperature, flavor deteriorates rapidly. When freezing or canning asparagus, take care of it immediately after purchase. If you can't use all the asparagus you buy for fresh eating right away, wrap it in a damp paper towel and store in your refrigerator hydrator for no more than three days.

Top quality asparagus is firm, fresh looking, crisp and bright green in color. Tip ends are tightly closed and are green to purplish green in color. Medium and thick stalks are the most tender. Thin, spindly stalks are apt to be tough and stringy.

After purchase, wash stalks thoroughly in cool salt water to remove any sand or grit from scales. There is no need to peel off stalk scales.

Cook whole stalks or cut pieces in about an inch of boiling, salted water, uncovered for one to two minutes (to keep the bright green color) and then covered for six to eight minutes or until fork tender. Stalks and tips are equally tender on Michigan asparagus.

Prepare fresh asparagus in other ways also. Use it raw in salads or as a snack-dipper with a sour cream or cottage cheese vegetable dip. Dip washed stalks in an egg-flour batter and fresh fry in hot fat, or slice asparagus diagonally and stir-fry it in a little hot fat in a skillet or Wok.

When freezing asparagus, be sure to blanch the stalks or pieces in boiling water for one to three minutes, depending on the stalk size, to slow the enzyme action that causes continued aging. A few more minutes spent in blanching it now, will assure quality asparagus later in the year. If not blanched, asparagus turns tough and straw-like in only a few months in the freezer. After blanching, cool immediately in ice water, drain and pack into freezer containers, leaving no headspace.

One pound of asparagus gives three to four cooked servings. One two-thirds cups serving has only 20 calories. You will need one and one-half pounds of asparagus for every pint frozen and two pounds for every pint canned.

Dr. Lester Coleman

For the past few years I have had more and more difficulty swallowing pieces of meat and dry foods. It's a most unpleasant feeling and I would like to track it down. — Mr. C.M., Virginia Islands.

Dear Mr. M.: Difficulty in swallowing is known as "dysphagia." Many patients actually point to the spot where they think the food gets stuck. Such localization of symptoms by a patient is helpful to the doctor who is investigating the problem.

Occasionally, a small pouch, or "diverticulum," occurs in the esophagus that carries food from the mouth into the stomach. Food can lodge in this pouch and, over a long period, the pouch becomes larger and it becomes more difficult to swallow.

There are also a number of neurological and unusual medical conditions which are responsible for difficulty in swallowing. These can be readily ruled out by examination.

People who are taking drugs reduce the amount of saliva, and thus produce dryness of the mouth, may find it hard to swallow. There are now many precise and excellent methods for studying the entire esophageal tract. X-ray studies can show the speed with which food passes through the esophagus. Any blockage is clearly visible. To eliminate your discomfort, these and other tests should be made.

Can the shape of the belly button in a newborn infant have anything to do with the child's health? My son has a protrusion that bothers me. — Mrs. A.L., Iowa

Dear Mrs. L.: When the umbilical cord is cut following delivery of a child, the navel slowly heals. Like all wounds, they heal differently with each person. The shape and the protrusion of a navel does not affect the child's health or growth.

Only occasionally is there inadequate or incomplete healing of the navel and an umbilical hernia can persist.

If the protrusion of the navel is marked, surgical repair of this or an umbilical hernia can easily be performed.

Concert May 18 At AU

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Union College band, under the direction of Dan Schultz, will present a free concert, Wednesday, May 18, at 8 p.m., in the Andrews university Johnson auditorium.

Music from around the world will include a multi-media presentation entitled "American Panorama." Actual voices of nine presidents, fragments of nostalgia including recordings of music, newscasts of historical events, memorable radio programs from the past, and many humorous and tragic moments recreated as they actually happened are part of the panorama.

The touring band is a select group chosen from the college's Concert band. Its itinerary this year includes a tour to the North Central states and the east coast as well as Canada. Since it began a Bicentennial tour series in 1975 the band has been through 30 states and traveled over 14,000 miles.

Union college is located in Lincoln, Neb., and is a four-year liberal arts college supported by the Seventh-day Adventist church.

The public is invited to attend the concert.

tion. Other expert pairs disdained any four-no-trump convention, although Blackwood was becoming popular in the middle West.

In any event, they reached seven spades and it was up to West to lead. He groaned and signed: "What am I supposed to lead. They bid seven without using their convention."

Then he studied a while and finally led the four of hearts.

South, a great player, had one weakness. His psychology was way below normal. He looked over dummy, wondered just why West was talking and finally decided that West was trying to protect three trumps to the queen. So, South led his king of spades at trick two. West showed out and the slam was gone to no man's land.

South demanded a ruling about West's remark. He got one quickly. It was pointed out to him that there was a correct play. That would be to play dummy's ace of spades. If both opponents followed he might try to master mind a second-round finesse, but when West showed out his problem would have been over.

'Gas Guzzler' Tax Seen Doomed

By LARRY MACINTYRE
Staff Writer

Congressman Dave Stockman predicted yesterday that many of the proposals in President Jimmy Carter's recently announced energy policy will not be enacted by Congress.

He said the public would not allow enactment of proposals such as the "gas guzzler" tax which he claimed would serve as a subsidy for foreign imported cars.

Stockman (R-St. Joseph) was the guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Twin Cities Rotary club at the St. Joseph Elks lodge.

The President's energy plan was announced in a televised address before Congress April 20. Among other things, Carter called for a graduated tax ranging from $52 to $449 on 1978-model cars that get 18 or less miles per gallon.

The tax would be coupled with rebates of up to $493 on cars that get good gas mileage.

Stockman said such a plan that discriminates against American built cars in favor of foreign imports would not be allowed to pass because it would be too harmful to the U.S. economy.

He said the major fault with Carter's energy plan is that it assumes that domestic production of oil and gas is in a permanent decline.

Stockman said such an assumption is "fundamentally wrong."

He said the administration's energy plan is based only on proven reserves of oil and natural gas. Stockman said that if price controls were taken off domestically produced fuels, new reserves would be found and tapped.

As an example, he said 95 percent of the nation's original endowment of natural gas is still in deep sediments anywhere from 15,000 to 30,000 feet below the surface.

He said the deep reserves amount to some 800 to 900 trillion cubic feet of natural gas. If the price ceilings on domestically produced natural gas the natural gas price ceiling from $1.42 to 1.75 per thousand cubic feet.

Stockman said the solution to the energy problem would be for "Congress to come up with a workable plan based on the free laws will keep some industries from converting, he said.

Turning to other matters now before Congress, Stockman warned that the projected federal deficit for the 1977-78 fiscal year which starts in October is now at $70 billion.

"That's a pretty dangerous course to follow," he said.

The projected deficit is an increase of $20 billion over the present year's deficit, he said. The U.S. economy is continually growing healthier and does not need the massive shot in the arm of a $20 billion deficit increase, he asserted.

Congress would be better off working to reduce the deficit, he said.

Stockman Says Carter Energy Package In Deep Trouble

were removed, much of this gas could be recovered at a selling price of anywhere from $2 to $1 per thousand cubic feet, he predicted.

The President's energy package calls for an increase in market system."

He said Carter's call on industry to convert from oil and natural gas to coal would prove more difficult and time-consuming than has been predicted. For one thing, anti-pollution

It Rates 'Snowball's Chance'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration's plan to tax big inefficient cars and give rebates for small economical ones is drawing heavy fire from both Democrats and Republicans on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

Along with the already controversial proposal for a standby gasoline tax increase, the "gas guzzler" tax and rebate plan doesn't stand "a snowball's chance in hell of passing on the floor," said Rep. William R. Cotter, D-Conn.

And Rep. Al Ullman, R-Ore., chairman of the committee, predicts "substantial changes" will be made by his panel in the tax portions of the administration's energy program.

Plainwell Girl Hurt When Hit By Auto

PLAINWELL — An 11-year-old Plainwell girl was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when she was struck by an auto in front of her home north of here in Allegan county's Gun Plain township.

Debbie Sherwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sherwood, 106th avenue, Plainwell, was listed in poor condition this morning at Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo.

Allegan county sheriff's deputies said the Sherwood girl was struck around 2:20 p.m. by an eastbound auto driven by Michael Tindall, 19, of Plain-well, as she was walking across 106th avenue getting the mail. She had just returned home from school, police said.

Tindall was ticketed for failing to stop in an assured clear distance, while the driver of another auto, Donovan Torcott, 68, of Plainwell, was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

Deputies said Torcott had turned east onto 106th avenue from 11th street when the Tindall auto, which was traveling east on 106th came up on Torcott's auto skidding past it and striking the girl.

Pregnancy Firing Ruled Illegal

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Can an unmarried worker legally be fired by a boss who objects to the employee's sex habits? Maybe — unless the worker is pregnant.

The Supreme Court on Monday let stand a lower court decision that single women cannot be fired from their jobs for being pregnant because such treatment is illegal sex discrimination.

The Martin Sweets Co. of Louisville, Ky., a self-proclaimed "highly religious" firm, violated the law when it fired Rose M. Jacobs in 1972, the sixth U.S. circuit court of appeals ruled last February.

The Supreme Court, in refusing to hear the company's appeal, left intact the legal precedent established by the circuit court.

The Supreme Court did agree to review another case involving a form of alleged sex discrimination.

Julia Martinez, a member of the Santa Clara Pueblos in New Mexico, sued her Indian tribe for allegedly discriminating against female members.

She had married a Navajo, and because of that her 10 children were refused tribal membership by the Santa Clara Pueblos. If the children's father had been a Pueblo and their mother a Navajo, the children would have been admitted into membership under tribal law.

illegal corporate contributions to the 1972 campaign of Georgia Sen. Sam Nunn, a Democrat. Wild likely will stand trial in the near future.

—Sent back to a lower court an appeal by Rep. Larry Pressler, R-S.D., seeking to force Congress to vote for all pay raises its members receive. The justices told a district court in Washington, D.C., to study Pressler's lawsuit once again in light of a new federal law requiring the House of Representatives and the Senate to vote on all proposed pay raises in the future.

—Let stand a lower court's decision that allows charter airlines to compete for passengers with regularly scheduled flights. The court turned down an appeal by American Airlines and Trans World Airlines contending that charter companies should not be allowed to offer regularly scheduled service.

—Decided on a narrow, technical point a case that had asked the court to decide whether children have a right to an impartial attorney, or one of their own choosing, before being placed in a state mental hospital. The court had been expected to use a Pennsylvania case to hand down a major ruling on the rights of children whose parents want to commit them, but the court decided that a new state law made the case irrelevant.

—Refused to consider Ford Motor Co.'s attempt to back out of an agreement with the Federal Trade Commission over misleading television commercials about Ford automobiles. The justices let stand a decision by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati that companies cannot withdraw a proposed consent agreement with the FTC after the commission approves the agreement. Ford and its advertising agency, the J. Walter Thompson Co., contended that the consent agreement placed it in an unfair competitive disadvantage because commission consent agreements with General Motors are not as broad.

Man Acquitted In Third Trial

DETROIT (AP) — In his third trial on the same charge, a Detroit man has been found innocent of murdering an off-duty policeman.

Rayford Johnson, 25, was charged with killing Lorenzo Marshall outside a party store in 1971.

Police said Marshall drove up in the store during the robbery and chased two men who were fleeing from the store. The robbers fired at Marshall and killed him, officials said.

Senate To End PBB Testimony

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Senate committee will hear more testimony Wednesday on legislation to cut allowable PBB levels in food after a meeting with a scientist failed to turn up new arguments on the issue.

The Senate Agriculture and Consumer Affairs Committee will hear from House members who drafted the measure, which the amount of PBB permitted in livestock from 300 to 20 parts per billion.

Committee Chairman John Hertz, D-Harper Woods, said Wednesday is expected to be the last day of testimony before the panel begins work on the bill.

He said some parts of the legislation, which calls for the quarantine and testing of up to 90,000 animals, may be "unrealistic." Last week, he tentatively advanced his own proposal after agriculture department officials said the House bill attacked only a fraction of the PBB remaining in dairy herds.

Hertz suggested testing animals only as they went to market, and testing cows in herds which show trace levels of PBB in bulk milk tanks. That way, he said, no more PBB will enter the food chain and dairy farms won't be as disrupted as under wholesale quarantines.

Authors of the bill are expected to argue Wednesday that the measure would eliminate up to 75 per cent of the remaining PBB, Hertz said he did not know if he would push his version until he heard their arguments.

Three lawmakers said a weekend meeting with Dr. Irving Selikoff provided little new evidence to be used in deciding the fate of the PBB bill.

Selikoff, of Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York, directed the November 1976 study of more than 1,000 Michigan farm families exposed to high levels of PBB, or polychlorinated biphenyl. The toxic fire retardant was mixed with livestock feed and distributed throughout the state in 1973.

Crim: Bond Delay Hurts

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — House Speaker Bobby Crim says an eight-month delay by the Michigan Supreme Court in ruling on a $36 million bond issue is crimping state budget planning.

Crim's criticism of the court Monday was couched in protests that he wasn't trying to prod the justices into action. But, he said, "I think they've had enough time" to act.

"I can't classify it as foot-dragging at this time, but I think in the not too distant future it could be classified as that," Crim said.

The court has been pondering since Sept. 16 whether it is unconstitutional for the legislature to approve bonding for state construction without a vote of the people.

If it rules that the 1976 law providing for the bond issue is unconstitutional, the legislature would have to decide whether to spend $36 million in general fund dollars on construction it deemed necessary last year.

The state is counting on a favorable ruling. But the delay is "very detrimental" to the legislature's ability to write next year's budget, Crim said. That budget process is now underway.

"The longer the delay, the higher the (construction) costs become," he added.

Crim said he has no intention of pushing the court into acting quickly "because we have no leverage to push the court. But I want them to understand it's important to us."

A spokesman for Chief Justice Thomas Kavanagh could make no prediction when the court's ruling will be issued. But he said the court is "actively pursuing" a decision.

On another topic, Crim on Monday released a letter he wrote to President Carter asking for a meeting of top Michigan and federal officials in the hopes of gaining "fair treatment" for the state.

Crim told Carter he hopes the meeting will include Vice President Walter Mondale and Jack Watson, Carter's cabinet secretary and liaison with state legislative leaders.

The letter cited Michigan's high unemployment and susceptibility to changes in the economy, its flow of tax dollars to Washington that exceed the money it gets back, and federal attempts to locate Project Seafarer and nuclear waste dumps in the state.

"We have all the bad statistics on our side," Crim said of his appeal to Carter. Other states might feel they too are short-changed, "but we can prove it," the lawmaker said.

Body Found

PUYALLUP, Wash. (AP) — The body of a Michigan soldier based at Fort Lewis has been found at the base of a cliff along the Puyallup River, where he apparently fell while climbing or hiking, authorities say.

The victim was identified as Spec. 4 David Gordon, 22, of Long Lake, Mich. His body was recovered Sunday by boaters along the river just east of Puyallup.

St. Joe Schedules Hearing On Demolition Of House

The St. Joseph city commission yesterday scheduled a June 20 public hearing to determine whether a two-story frame house at 3320 Lake Shore drive should be demolished.

City Manager G.W. Hepler said that in recent inspections, he and Carl Conklin, director of building and inspections, had found the building to be "structurally unsafe."

He gave commissioners photos of the building which showed heavily damaged and deteriorated walls, floors and plumbing fixtures. Hepler said he believes the house is beyond repair.

The house is owned by Carmen Green who purchased it on a land contract from Leonard Kublick, Hepler said. Both people will be asked to attend the June 20 hearing. The hearing will be included as part of the regular city commission meeting that day.

Hepler said the city has sent inspection notices to Carmen Green since last September, but she has not answered them.

The notices listed violations of the city building code and ordered that repairs be made.

A city ordinance requires that five weeks notice be given for a hearing on whether to demolish a building.

In other actions, the commission approved a request from the St. Joseph Art association to hold its 16th annual art fair in Lake Bluff park on July 10. The rain date is July 17.

The commission voted to allow the St. Joseph Lions club to set up a concession stand at the corner of Ship and State streets during the Blossomtime Grand Floral parade Saturday. Proceeds will be used for Lions club projects and its sight retention fund.

Mayor Pro. Tem Joseph Hanley declared May 22 through 28 as senior citizens week in St. Joseph.

The council voted final approval for a $3,673,821 budget for the 1977-78 fiscal year. The budget is about 9.9 per cent higher than the one for the previous year, according to Hepler. The fiscal year begins July 1.

The budget calls for a summer property tax levy of 17.75 mills — an increase of 1.05 mills over the present year. The ordinance was given the first of two required votes of approval at the city commission meeting last week.

Class Action Hormone Suit Dismissed; Appeal Due

DETROIT (AP) — An attorney for 144 women says he will appeal a judge's order dismissing a class action suit that sought to hold 16 drug companies jointly liable for making the hormone DES.

The suit was brought by women whose mothers took the synthetic hormone between 1947 and 1964, when it was being prescribed to pregnant women as a way to prevent miscarriages.

Some of the women in the suit were unable to identify which drug company made the dosage of diethylstilbestrol taken by their mothers. The class action suit charged the companies together had conspired and colluded to make, promote and sell the drug when they should have known it was not safe.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Thomas Rounnell ruled Monday that only women who could identify the specific manufacturer and the drug which made them sick could sue for damages.

The women's attorney, Lawrence Charfoos, said the ruling eliminates about half of the plaintiffs, but they may try to prove their cases indirectly. Charfoos said he would appeal Rounnell's decision within 30 days.

The suit was started by 144 Michigan women and 40 of their husbands in September 1974 against drug companies that made DES.

In the late 1960s, researchers linked DES to vaginal and cervical abnormalities in daughters of women who took it during pregnancy.

In 1971, the Food and Drug Administration barred the use of the drug during pregnancy. DES still is prescribed in small doses to nonpregnant women for various problems.

On March 28, Rounnell held a hearing attended by many of the women who filed suit. Attorneys for the drug companies had asked Rounnell to dismiss the action because the women could not prove which company made the drug their mothers took.

The suit claimed the plaintiffs suffered ill effects from the medication their mothers took. The ailments ranged from cervical cancer to less severe abnormalities.

Rounnell held that many of the plaintiffs could supply an accurate record of what hormone their mothers took or which of the pharmaceutical firms named in the suit supplied the hormone to their mothers.

But, he said, "There is no cause for action by those plaintiffs who were unable to identify the drug ingested by their mothers or tell who the manufacturer was."

He pointed out that under Michigan law, pharmacists are required to keep prescription information on file for five years. The court said some of the cases before him went back 15 years or longer.

In the late 1950s, drug firms halted sales of DES to farmers who used the drug to fatten chickens because it posed a cancer danger to the animals.

Ex-Detective Acquitted

BEULAH, Mich. (AP) — A Benzie Circuit Court jury has found a former police detective innocent of perjury charges after a five-day trial. Special Judge Frank Millner polled the jury Monday and it voted unanimously in the trial of Dale Rose, 48.

LMC Votes $100,000 To 'De-Water' Building Site

Lake Michigan college's community center has run into an underground water problem on which the board of trustees last night voted to spend up to $100,000 to correct.

The center's architect reported to the board that the building site area of the community center, now being graded, must be "de-watered" because an unexpectedly high water table has been encountered. He said an underground drainage system must be installed, and peat must be removed and replaced with fill. The board was told that soil borings in January showed the water table to be six feet below the surface. The level rose to just below the surface when the ground thawed, it was reported.

Architect Kenneth Fitzgerald of Warren Holmes Co. and Kenneth Black Associates, Lansing, said the cost of corrections would add at least $80,000 to the cost of the $6 million-plus center project and cause a delay of some three weeks.

The board authorized up to $100,000 for the work in the contract of George Miller and Sons, doing site preparation. The money will come from a $3.5 million bond issue, approved by the board in February. The center on the Napier avenue campus is being financed mainly by a $5 million federal grant.

In other matters, the board voted 4 to 2 to permit sabbatical leaves for advanced study next year for three teachers who were fired during the 1973 strike but later rehired.

The vote reversed a 4 to 2 vote in April to deny the sabbaticals. The sabbaticals were denied then because of a board policy that an instructor must have spent "the preceding seven years as a teacher to qualify for a paid sabbatical."

Board members who supported the sabbaticals last night were Chairman Bernard Radde, Earl Place, Howard Jablon and Vance Shaw. Opposed were Emily Foster and Charles Huizenga. Victor Wier was absent.

Radde and Place switched their votes from April. Radde explained last night that he first believed the board could get in legal trouble because of the seven-year service requirement. He said he has since been convinced by the college's labor counsel in Chicago that the board can consider such requests on a case-by-case basis without setting policy.

Huizenga said he opposed the sabbaticals, because he believes there is a policy that must be met, and not because of the teachers involved.

The sabbaticals were approved for Prof. Larry Fairbanks, physical science, 14 years at LMC; Prof. Cletus Brunnel, biology, nine years; and Associate Prof. Nancy Taylor, mathematics, six years. They were among 54 teachers fired in the spring of 1973 during the strike. They were rehired, along with six others, in the fall of 1973. Dr. Walter Browne, LMC executive vice president, reported in April that technically each has only been employed since 1973 — the new hiring date.

In other board business, William Niemi, vice president for business affairs, reported that a $1 million bond issue approved in 1974 for three years, was paid off this month. Niemi said it was an "economical bond issue" from the local taxpayers' standpoint. Niemi said only $32,681 of the interest that totaled $120,510 came from local tax sources.

Niemi said other interest payments came from a $50,111 federal grant, $6,907 from interest earned by the college, and $30,800 from sale of the bonds.

The board also:

— Approved a resolution urging the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation to speed up its schedule for building the proposed US-31-33 freeway from I-196, Benton township, to the Indiana line. Similar resolutions have been adopted by several government units, including the Berrien county board of commissioners and Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission.

— Voted to purchase worker's compensation insurance from John DeVries agency, St. Joseph, for a net premium of $6,714. The DeVries agency will provide the coverage for all LMC employees through Insurance Company of North America.

— Accepted low bids of $7,898 from Imperial Printing Co., St. Joseph, for 10,000 copies of the LMC 1977-78 catalogue; and of $3.75 per hour for campus security next year by Cardinal Security Services, Inc., Kalamazoo. The rate moves to $5.63 per hour on holidays and $4.50 per hour when armed guards are required. Armed guards at LMC are used generally only when large sums of money are moved, it was reported.

The board heard reports of student senate activities from outgoing President Steven Gibbons, incoming President Donna Kymala, outgoing vice president Richard Smedendorp, and outgoing treasurer Robert J. Rhodes.

CITES TEACHER CONTROVERSY

Buchanan Trustee Quits

By JOHN DYE
Smith Barries Bureau

BUCHANAN — Citing what he termed a "lack of confidence" between himself and other board members, Buchanan school board member Richard Rosow resigned last night.

Rosow, a one-term member elected in 1974, said in a meeting at Moccasin elementary school that the board session was his last. A formal resignation letter will be sent to the board for its meeting next month, he added.

Dr. Earl Hogan, superintendent, said after last night's meeting that a replacement for Rosow must be named within 20 days. He said he was uncertain how long the replacement would serve and school lawyers would be consulted. Slightly more than a year remains in Rosow's term.

In other areas, the board voted to retire 25 teachers it had pink-slipped earlier this year. The teachers were laid off, beginning next year, until the fate of a 2.4-mill property tax renewal proposal was known. The one-year issue was approved in a special election

April 18.

Six remaining teachers may be recalled if an additional 2.6 mills receive voter approval in balloting in the annual school election June 13, Dr. Hogan said.

Even with approval of the 2.4-mill issue last month, the board voted to trim $160,000 from next year's school operating budget to make ends meet. Appeals for restoration of part of those cuts were made last night.

Home economics teacher Mrs. Linda Edguld, in a letter to the board, asked that the home economics program, which was completely cut at the high school, be reconsidered. Mrs. Connie Moon, wife of board president William Moon, asked in a letter that one home economics course, a family living class, be restored. Mrs. Moon is a home-school visitor for the school district.

Dr. Hogan said in response to both letters that those cuts, as well as the trimming of the high school industrial arts program and elimination of the school strings program could be restored if the added 2.6 mills are approved in June.

Those programs will also come under review in a study of the entire kindergarten through 12th grade education program approved by the board last night, Hogan said.

Aim of the study will be to determine educational priorities and their cost, with a tentative date of February or March in 1978 for a special election on an yet undetermined millage rate to support them, Hogan said.

RICHARD ROSOW
Quits board

Controversy surrounding board director Michael Morse "brought us apart," Rosow, 32, told the board.

Last week, the board announced it would grant tenure to Morse, because of an oversight, after voting first in March not to rehire him after this school year. In the original March vote, Rosow cast the lone no vote in a 6-1 decision not to rehire five teachers that included Morse.

The Morse controversy came to light again last night when the board voted formally to give the board director tenure status. The formal vote on the tenure was 6-1, with trustee Richard DeVos casting the lone no vote this time.

Joining Rosow last night were voters William Moon, Mrs. Jeanette Mahan, Mrs. Mary Beth Larson, Robert Luke and Charles Ward.

tion opposing mandatory school-provided breakfasts for students and urged repeal of a state law requiring those meals. Copies of the resolution are to be sent to local state legislators and Gov. William Milliken.

Purchase of reading textbooks and related materials for students in grades 1-5, at a total cost of $16,200, was approved. The material is part of a new reading program initiated in the school system this year.

The concept of recommendations on the district's intramural sports program was approved by the board. The recommendations included a proposal for a mix of both interscholastic and intramural sports at the middle school, which currently has only an intramural program. Eight-grade basketball on an interscholastic level could be included, but the board instructed a committee which made the study to return next month with specific proposals.

Named delegate to the June 6 election of Berrien county intermediate school board members was DeVos. Mrs. Mahan was named alternate.

The board approved a request that six high school students be allowed to attend an overnight trip at the Fernwood Nature Center, Niles, for advanced natural science students next month.

Rev. Alfred Deeds Jr., Main street, was given permission to plant a personal garden this summer in an unused section of property at Moccasin school. The near 50 by 50-foot plot is adjacent to Deeds property.

The American Community Mutual Insurance Co., Plymouth, was recertified as the insurance carrier for student insurance next year, at no cost to the district.

Hogan told Richard Chubb, industrial arts teacher, that school officials would investigate whether an industrial arts activity fund could continue, or whether funds raised by the high school department would have to be put in the district's general fund. Chubb explained that the long-standing fund purchases federal surplus shop machines, uses them for four years, sells them at a profit and then buys additional shop machines.

Grand Rapids Pastor Is Fined; Church Leaders Delay Decision

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Garfield Park Reformed Church leaders say they'll wait a few weeks before deciding what to do about their pastor, who has been convicted of soliciting for prostitution.

"We probably won't make any final decision until the end of the month," Gaylord Anderson, vice president of the church's governing body, said Monday.

The Rev. Robert Bast, 41, pleaded no contest last week to a misdemeanor charge of soliciting for prostitution. He was convicted and fined $100 plus $10 costs.

District Court Judge Gordon Doherty said that plea allowed the court to study the evidence and decide whether to accept a no contest plea. The judge said he was satisfied there was enough evidence to accept the plea and save the expense of a trial.

Doherty said he reviewed the transcript of the minister's conversation with two policewomen, who were posing as prostitutes. The women were wired to record conversations with men who approached them.

The minister drew the same penalty as did 18 other men who pleaded guilty to the vice charge. They were among 22 men arrested during a police crackdown on prostitution in downtown Grand Rapids April 28.

The Rev. Mr. Bast originally pleaded innocent to the charge. Church officials gave their pastor a leave of absence after he submitted his resignation April 29. That leave expires May 29.

The Rev. Mr. Bast has been pastor at the church for six years.

Lawton Opposes Regional Unions

LAWTON — The Lawton school board last night adopted a resolution opposing the formation of regional teacher bargaining units.

Included in the resolution was an appeal by the school board for Lawton teachers to reject regional bargaining when it comes time for them to consider it.

The teachers at Lawton are in the first year of a two-year contract and will not be able to ask for a change in bargaining units until the present contract expires.

Dr. Ray Banlow, school superintendent, said he told the board that local teachers stand to lose control over many contract and working provisions to a regional council if teachers join the regional group.

The Michigan Education Association, to which most local teacher unions belong, has urged its local members to form regional units to standardize school calendars and some contract provisions.

In other areas, the board voted to reduce the district's debt retirement property tax levy by one-third mill for the 1977-78 school year.

The reduction will drop the debt retirement from seven mills to 6.67 mills. Dr. Banlow said the board was able to reduce the levy because of an $8,500 state grant be obtained for the school to help defray debt costs.

The board also approved spending $48,000 to better insulate its three school buildings and cut energy costs.

Dr. Banlow said $28,000 will be spent to reroof half the elementary school building this year; $3,000 will be spent to blow insulation into the ceiling at the middle school; and $18,000 was allocated for ceiling insulation at the four-year-old high school.

Dr. Ray Banlow, school superintendent, said he told the board that local teachers stand to lose control over many contract and working provisions to a regional council if teachers join the regional group.

The Michigan Education Association, to which most local teacher unions belong, has urged its local members to form

Oil Crisis Could Strike By 1981

WASHINGTON (AP) — Worldwide shortages of oil could begin to cripple the industrialized world by 1981 unless there are urgent moves toward conservation, an international study group says.

In a study of global energy prospects up to the beginning of the next century, the panel said conservation efforts and a move by Middle East oil producers to increase production could stave off the shortages until as late as 2010.

But the group said worldwide shortages could strike by 1981, will most likely strike between 1985 and 1995 and are a virtual certainty around the turn of the century.

The study was prepared by the Workshop on Alternative Energy Strategies — 35 representatives of governments, universities and energy-related industries in 15 industrialized nations.

Organized in 1974 by Carroll L. Wilson, a professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the panel studied only the non-Communist world and offered a variety of possible "scenarios" for the future, rather than a definite prediction or policy recommendations.

Its conclusions generally parallel those of President Carter, even to the urging of a warlike urgency to deal with the problem.

The panel said its findings indicate world oil production capacity will level off and become unable to fill potential demand unless strong action is taken quickly to reduce that demand.

Even then, the report says, there will be a growing gap that can be satisfied only by switching from oil and natural gas to more plentiful energy sources such as coal and nuclear power.

Failure to begin the transition quickly will lead industrial nations into the trap of sudden, large energy shortages that would curtail production of goods and services and cause increased inflation and unemployment, Wilson told a news conference here Monday.

The turn of the century energy shortage will still occur even if coal production more than doubles, oil demand growth is cut, nuclear power capability increases 25 times and oil prices increase by 50 percent, the report said.

"This is not a doomsday report. It's a time bomb," Wilson said. "We've tried to pin down ways in which it will explode if the free world doesn't act soon enough."

The same theme was sounded by President Carter's top energy adviser, James R. Schlesinger, in a speech Monday at the Woman's National Democratic Club.

Without strong conservation measures and switches to other fuels, he said, the United States "will skitter up to the end of a cliff, like lemmings, and go over," plunging into an economic catastrophe.

The consequences, Schlesinger said, could include industrialized nations bidding up oil prices against each other while developing nations are left behind, unable to purchase fuel.

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commission on Federal Paperwork is a bunch of well-meaning folks who are trying to save us from being buried in triplicate under the weight of federal forms.

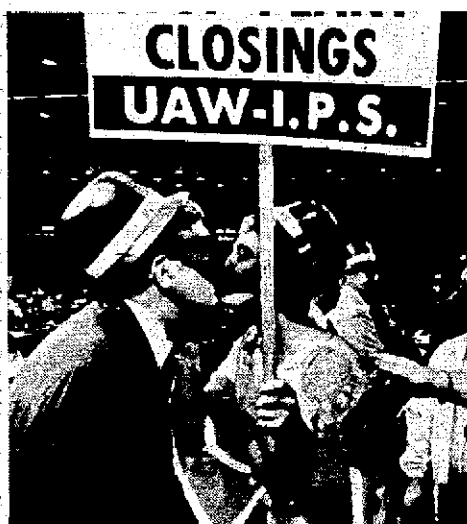

They've been looking at the practices of various government agencies and reporting on what they find.

They recently issued their latest series of reports and if you want to know what they said all you have to do is wade through nearly 800 pages of material.

How you get the news. House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. meets with reporters 15 minutes before the start of each House session. One day, a reporter asked the speaker how he thought the vote would go on a particular bill.

O'Neill said he thought there was a slight majority in favor of the measure but "it's a soft vote at this particular time."

"What does that mean?" asked the reporter. The speaker stared at the reporter for a moment and then replied, "That it's not hard."

UAW Chiefs Move To Delay Debate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — United Auto Workers leaders want to limit debate at the union's national convention this week on whether to reaffiliate with the AFL-CIO, union sources said Monday. Retiring UAW President Leonard Woodcock and his almost certain successor, Vice President Douglas Fraser, are strong advocates of reaffiliation, but want to defer action on the question until the fall.

The leadership of the 1.4-million member union will propose that a special one-day convention be held in September to vote on whether the UAW should end its nine-year separation from the AFL-CIO. That resolution is expected to be offered on Thursday, the day after the 2,000 voting delegates chose a new president.

"They're (the leadership) going to try to limit debate to procedural questions — should we have the special convention or not," one union source said. "I don't think they'll allow any discussion on the substance — whether we should reaffiliate or not." However, there is strong sentiment among delegates here, many of whom oppose reaffiliation, to debate the merits on the floor. It is uncertain whether leadership could prevent that kind of discussion.

Reaffiliation is the most emotional issue likely to come up at the six-day convention and may be the only item that could shatter the display of unity which has marked the convention in its opening days.

Authorities Hunting Jackson Rioters

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Authorities today were seeking to identify the convicts who took part in a brief cellblock riot at Southern Michigan Prison, burning a mattress, breaking windows, splattering paint and beating up other prisoners.

No hostages were taken and no prison employees were reported injured in the incident late Sunday. Three inmates spent the night in the infirmary.

The disturbance at the world's largest walled prison broke out when power was cut off to permit work on the electrical system in the five-story, 355-man cellblock.

With illumination provided by automobile headlights and portable lamps, Deputy Warden William Grant talked the inmates into returning to their cells about three hours after the uprising began. Power was restored shortly afterward.

Grant said no concessions were made to the men to get them back to their beds.

Because of the darkness, he said, it was difficult to identify the convicts who took part in the rioting. But he estimated about 50 men participated. Some of them face punishment if they can be identified, Grant said.

About 50 off-duty employees of the prison were called in to help out if needed, and 18 state police troopers patrolled the outside walls.

Grant, who talked to the prisoners with a bull horn, said the main complaint seemed to concern overcrowding.

3.25 MILLION BREAK-INS LOGGED IN YEAR

Burglar, Fire Alarm Sales Booming

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

In little more than the time it takes you to read this sentence, a burglar will have broken into someone's home or business. It may have been yours.

The Federal Bureau of Statistics defines burglary as "the unlawful entry of a structure to commit a felony or theft. The use of force to gain entry is not required."

According to the bureau, "prevention and detection of the burglary offense poses a most difficult problem to law enforcement. Volume alone is an overriding factor."

The FBI says there were some 3.25 million burglaries in 1975, the latest year for which figures are available. That works out to one burglary every 10 seconds and represents an increase of about 7 per cent from 1974.

Residential burglaries accounted for almost two-thirds of the total in 1975. Over half of them occurred during the day. Losses from these burglaries amounted to $825 million, up 21 per cent from 1974, compared to an increase of only 5 per cent in losses from nonresidential burglaries.

The average dollar loss per residential burglary was over $440.

Could you afford that kind of loss? If not, what have you done to stop it? How well is your house protected? How easy would it be for someone to break in?

A growing number of Americans are asking themselves these questions. And their answers add up to a boom for manufacturers and sellers of equipment to protect homes, not only against crime, but also against such natural disasters as fire.

A spokesman for the National Burglar and Fire Alarm Association said there are no over-all statistics on sales of alarm systems. But she said that the market for consumer alarms — to detect burglary and fire in homes and automobiles — is the fastest growing segment of the business.

No. 1 In 3-Part Series

EDITOR'S NOTE: Suburban residents who used to leave their homes unlocked are installing elaborate burglar alarm systems. City dwellers bar their windows and bolt their doors. Here, in the first of a three-part series, is a look at the problem of burglary.

since the market remains far from saturated.

The association spokesman estimated that only 1 per cent of all residences in America are equipped with burglar alarms. Another 1 per cent have some sort of fire alarm system, she said.

Part of the reason for the increase in security systems has been the rise in burglary. Another important factor, however, is that costs have started to decline. "Previously, only the very, very rich could afford an elaborate security system," she said. "But technology has improved tremendously in the past five years, bringing down costs."

Burglar alarm systems now cost from $300 to $1,500, depending on the type of residence and the kind of protection you want. Some systems also involve payment of a monthly fee for security forces.

A recent study by Security World Publishing Co. of manufacturers of security and fire systems showed that sales of all types of protection services, residential and commercial, totaled just over $2 billion last year, up from a little more than $1.5 billion the year before. This year's sales are expected to reach almost $3 billion, the Security World survey showed.

When it comes to fire alarm systems, the biggest growth has been in smoke detectors, available for as little as $30 to $50. Many communities now require installation of detectors in new buildings.

The National Fire Prevention and Control Administration of the Commerce Department says that manufacturers estimated 1976 sales of smoke detectors at $87 million and the agency predicts that sales will reach the $200 million mark by 1980.

Before you consider any sort of security system, you should look at your home to check existing construction for possible areas of improvement.

The National Bureau of Standards says that one of the most common ways a burglar enters a house is by breaking the strike out of the door frame. The strike is the metal plate attached to the side of the door frame where the bolt latches to the door.

If the screws used to attach the strike to the frame are too short, the plate is easy to detach. The Bureau of Standards suggests screws that are long enough to go all the way through the frame and into the wall studs, combined with a longer-than-normal strike. An eight-inch strike plate with three-inch screws — available most places for well under $10 — should be sufficient.

Glass around doors also is a potential danger spot, since burglars can break through, reach in and open the door from the inside. If your home has panes of glass that are large enough to reach through and are located within 40 inches of the door knob or lock, cover the area with protective grillwork or replace the glass with a burglar-resistant material. Among materials to look for are tempered glass, laminated glass, acrylic plastic and housing and shaft of the knob and insert a pin through the hole to prevent the crank from being turned.

The Bureau of Standards says it is impossible to define the "most secure" door because of the variety of materials and workmanship involved. Generally, however, a wood door of solid core construction, 1 3/4 inches thick, should offer adequate protection. Metal doors of the type often used in apartment houses are even better.

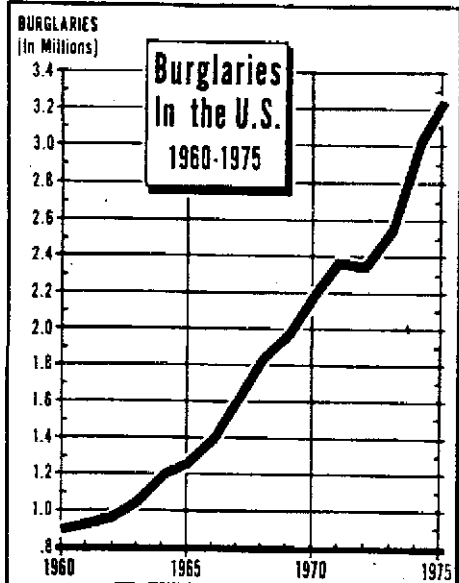

A door opening outward generally is less vulnerable to a burglar than one opening inward, since it is more difficult to pull a door out of its frame than it is to push it in. The outward door also may leave the hinge pins accessible, however. Make sure the pins are not removable or that the hinges interlock when the door is closed.

One way to cut losses in the event a burglary does occur is with federal crime insurance. The program was developed by the Federal Insurance Administration of the Department of Housing and Urban Development and a little more than one-third of the 50 states are participating.

Costs vary according to crime rates in the area involved. Policies generally insure against losses of up to $10,000 resulting from burglary or robbery and policies cannot be canceled because of loss.

To find out if you are eligible, contact any licensed property insurance agent or broker. Details also are available from Federal Crime Insurance, P.O. Box 41033, Washington, D.C., 20014.

Paw Paw Sets School Election On 19.92 Mills

PAW PAW — The Paw Paw school board last night voted to place a 19.92-mill property tax issue on the district's annual June 13 school election ballot.

The issue combines a bid to renew a 18.42-mill levy which expired with the last tax collection and a request for a 1.5-mill increase in the rate for operating purposes.

The 1.5-mill increase was expected to generate about $70,000 more in local tax revenue and another $75,000 to $80,000 in state aid.

The expired portion of the issue was to raise about $870,000 in local tax revenue, based on the 1977 taxable property value of the district of $48,393,000.

According to the school, the funds would go toward supporting the 1977-78 school year budget, now tentatively set at $3.4 million.

The levy would be for one year and if approved would make the school's 1977 operating tax rate 28.5 mills.

Coupled with the package would be a decrease in the levy for debt retirement from 3.5 mills to 2.5 mills, making the total increase to taxpayers if the plan is approved, one half mill.

Supt. Norval S. Boyce said the levy for debt retirement could be reduced because the district's state equalized valuation had increased from $12,420,000 for 1976 to the $48,393,000 for this year.

However, he said, the SEV increase works to the district's disadvantage in terms of operational millage, because the amount paid in state aid will decrease. The only way to increase operational revenues, he said, is by raising the millage.

Board President Betty Rasmussen said that the additional funds will be needed to meet rising costs fueled by inflation.

In other areas, the board voted 4 to 3 to build a new 2,500 square foot administration building west of the high school. Under the proposal adopted, the building would be built by the high school building trades class, with the basic slab, heating, and brick work subcontracted.

Rasmussen stressed that the building would free up three rooms in the high school now used for administrative offices.

"We're not building an administration building as such," she said. "We're buying three classrooms that we need for next year. There's no way else we could get them for that price."

Estimated cost of the building was put at $65,000. Past estimates given the board for new high school rooms have run $60,000 apiece or higher. Part of the motion called for the board to rent space for administrative offices in the former Abrams clothing store at a cost of $10,000 for one year until the building is completed.

An alternative proposal made last night called for putting the building out for competitive bids. The cost of private construction was estimated at $80,000, but the building would have been finished for occupancy by September.

Two of those who voted against the building trades class doing the work, Robert Teske and William Rhodes, said they preferred to have the work done by a contractor. The third dissenter, Kenneth Taylor, said he did not believe the building was needed.

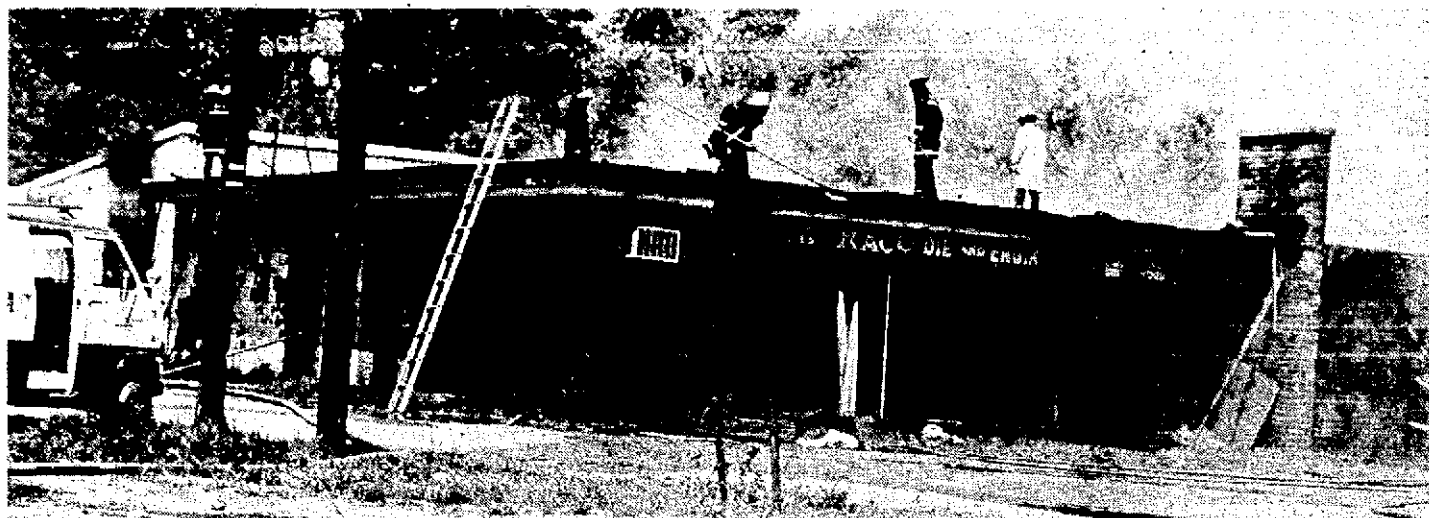

Voting in favor were Mrs. Rasmussen, Gloria Jean Berry, Douglas Howe, and Robert LaRue.

Although the building will be financed from the district's fund equity, several persons in the audience said they felt its construction could jeopardize the June millage request and any future bond issues the board may seek.

Jerry Cassell, president of the Paw Paw Education association, told the board in a letter that he had heard near unanimous opposition to the building.

The board instructed Teske, who will represent the district in the June 6 election to select two members on the Van Buren intermediate school board, to cast his ballots for incumbent Richard Barden of South Haven and newcomer Mrs. Francis Sage of Gobles. The other candidates are incumbent Bill Burnett of Hartford and newcomer George Fusko of Decatur.

The board also approved continuing the developmental kindergarten program for another year; learned the district's North Central accreditation had been renewed, and approved continued membership in the Michigan Association of School Boards.

Wiring Blamed

DECATUR — Fire Chief John Brigham has blamed faulty electrical wiring for a Sunday evening blaze that destroyed the Robert Flory home three miles east of here on 38th street.

Brigham said the 1½-story home was insured for $14,000, plus $5,000 on its contents.

No one was at the home when the blaze broke out. Brigham said he was told Mrs. Flory and three sons were away and that Flory was working in his fields when he first noticed the fire.

Sue Claudine

DENVER (AP) — The parents of the late skier Vladimir "Spider" Sabich have filed a $1.3 million lawsuit against Claudine Longel, who was convicted of criminally negligent homicide in Sabich's death.

ASSESSING DAMAGE: His face marked by concern and soot, Ray Brandt, Raco Die and Engineering owner, tries to assess damage in yesterday's fire at firm in Bridgman. Brandt said today he doesn't know whether damaged portion of plant will be reopened, but said workers will be back on job Monday in newer building to rear of damaged structure.

Bridgman Claims Census Means More U.S. Funds

BRIDGMAN — The city of Bridgman will file an objection with the federal and state governments claiming its revenue sharing funds should be higher because of increased population.

The city commission here last night made that move after hearing that a special census conducted last month has established the city's population at 2,160 rather than 1,979 on which revenue sharing money is based.

The census was conducted by a marketing research company under the auspices of the elections division of the Secretary of State's office. Revenue sharing money is allocated at the rate of $12.51 per capita, according to Milford Mellon, city superintendent.

The 1,979 census figure was based on federal projections, Mellon said. If the state and federal governments agree to the new census figure, it could mean around a $4,000 increase in revenue sharing and highway fund money.

The city received $24,000 in federal revenue sharing in the last entitlement period.

In other action, the commission agreed to divide costs of paving, curbing and gutters for streets in the Dune Vista subdivision with residents there. Residents will pay 60 per cent and the city 40 per cent of the costs.

Costs to residents will be placed on a special assessment roll that will be based on the front footage of each property. The assessment will run for 10 years at an annual interest rate of six per cent.

Residents of the subdivision had petitioned the commission for the work at the percentage rates approved. The action came after a public hearing last night.

The commission set a public hearing for June 6 at 8 p.m. on a plan to set up a special assessment district for property owners on Rambo road to pay costs of improving a rail crossing on the road. The property owners include the city; Martin Marietta Aggregates and a resident, Charles Ott. Cost of the improvements have been estimated at about $48,000.

The commission approved three resolutions concerning the city's Weko beach area. The first discontinues parking along Lake street at the beach because of the congestion. The second prevents people other than Lake township and city residents from walking onto the beach when gates are closed because the parking lot is full. The last increased the daily gate fee from $2 to $3. All three actions are effective immediately.

The commission set a public hearing for June 6 at 8:45 p.m. to review proposed extension of city water line along South Red Arrow highway. The line would be extended 1,100 feet south from a service station to Rambo road.

A policy was approved by the city granting city employees overtime wages for working in excess of 10 hours in any one day even if the total weekly hours are not over 40.

Supt. Mellon was given permission to purchase 350 six-foot guard rail posts from the Moore Construction Co., Hudsonville, the firm doing improvement work on I-94 overpasses. The posts are to cost the city $2.50 each. The posts are being removed and new ones put in. The posts will be used in the parking lot at Weko Beach.

A resolution was approved by the commission supporting a resolution by the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission that work be started on a proposed US-31-33 freeway prior to the scheduled 1985 target date.

A regional National Transportation Safety Board investigator, Luther Gatlin, quoted the craft's pilot, Capt. Lee Richmond, as saying that his right landing gear gave way just after he landed with his load of about 20 passengers from Kennedy.

A half-dozen new passengers had been taken aboard when the accident occurred, but the crew got them out a window after the craft keeled over.

Nine investigators from the National Transportation Safety Board and three from the Federal Aviation Administration arrived from Washington shortly after the accident.

Mayor Abraham Beame, who visited the rooftop, ordered the heliport license suspended until the investigation was completed.

Koeber announced later that New York Airways was voluntarily suspending its operations "until we can get some idea of what caused the accident."

The company operates 96 flights daily to and from Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark Airports using the Pan Am pad.

It was the first major accident at the controversial landing site that had been used for 26 months before operations were stopped in 1968 because of a variety of factors, including noise and fear of crashes. The service was resumed last Feb. 1.

Officers Win Commendations

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — Two South Haven police officers, Sgt. William Crow and Patrolman Gerald Covey, have been commended for meritorious service by the department's board of awards, according to Chief Charles Roby.

Crow was commended for his work as juvenile officer and his "fine rapport" with the young people of the community.

Crow was also recently commended by the South Haven board of education for his work as juvenile officer.

"Sgt. Crow's relationship with the faculty, staff, parents and student body of the South Haven schools has been outstanding," said the commendation. "He is always ready to serve regardless of the hour of the day and he does so with immediate response. He is respected by parents, teachers and students because he treats every person in a fair and dignified fashion."

Crow was also commended for his work with a junior high gun safety program. In addition, he was recognized for his willingness to counsel younger officers in the department.

Covey was recognized for the quick apprehension of a suspect in a breaking and entering of a dwelling on Feb. 10 and the recovery of approximately $4,400 in jewelry in the theft.

Covey chased a suspect on foot about one-third of a mile through the downtown business district before making the apprehension.

He was credited for his alertness and attention to duty in the commendation.

New Buffalo Puts 2.021 Mills On School Ballot

NEW BUFFALO — The New Buffalo school board voted Monday night to place a request for an additional 2.012 mills for three years for operating expenses on the ballot for the annual school election June 13.

The property tax levy request was approved by a 5-2 vote. Board members voting for the request were Howard Covert, Ronald Oselka, Leo Mundt, Dr. Benedict D'Amato, and William Covert. Voting against placing the issue on the ballot were Charles Wilens and George Calnin.

Both Wilens and Calnin are seeking re-election to their four-year terms on the board June 13. They're being challenged by Mrs. Robert Rabe and Gene Siebenmark.

Based on the district's present state equalized valuation, the additional 2.012 mills would raise some $85,000 in local property taxes and some $85,000 in state aid. If approved the district's total operating millage rate would be 27 mills. The district also levies 2.005 mills for debt retirement.

Daniel Lisak, president of the New Buffalo teachers' association, presented the board with a grievance charging Supt. Walter Schwarz with doing an "inadequate job of implementing" federal title-9 regulations. New Buffalo. The regulations ban sex discrimination.

Lisak charged that the system offers more sports for boys than girls and provides superior equipment for boys' athletics compared to girls'.

The board decided to meet June 1 in special session before responding to Lisak's accusations.

A teacher sympathy protest march was once again staged for the third consecutive month outside the high school prior to last night's board meeting. Teachers at New Buffalo have been working without a contract this school year.

The board approved paying $500 to Dale Siebenmark, New Buffalo city police chief, for his coaching services at the junior high level in football, basketball and track.

The board accepted the resignation of Jack Kennedy, maintenance and transportation supervisor, effective June 3. Kennedy said he resigned for business reasons.

The board took no action on a teachers' association request for 1976-77 school budget materials used for the annual audit.

Ronald Morrison, high school principal, reported New Buffalo has again received accreditation from North Central for the 35th consecutive year.

Nine Coaches Resign!

NEW BUFFALO — Letters of resignation from nine coaches were read and accepted last night by the New Buffalo school board here. Citing unresolved teacher contracts the past year, low coaching salaries, and inadequate implementation of title-9 regulations involving sex discrimination, the following resignations will become effective at the end of the school year, June 10:

Phil Ness, high school track; Ron Stella, JV basketball; Jenn Onkes, cheerleading; Kathy Slout, junior high cheerleading and volleyball; Cathy Allen, girls' JV volleyball; Holly Argue, girls' JV basketball and volleyball; Rick Gerard, varsity wrestling, JV baseball and assistant varsity football; Howard Kahne, assistant varsity football, freshmen basketball and girls' varsity softball; Sharon Wismer, girls' track and volleyball. The resignations leave only four coaching positions filled at New Buffalo.

Road Tax Election Asked In Van Buren

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Lawrence Correspondent

LAWRENCE — The possibility that Van Buren county voters will be asked to approve a half-mill property tax levy for road maintenance loomed larger Monday as the result of action by the county tax allocation board.

During a preliminary meeting, the board met to divide the 18-mill non-voted property tax rate pie, and found out what everyone already knew — there aren't enough "slices" to go around.

After voting 7-1 to retain the same millage split now in effect, the board voted unanimously to ask the county board of commissioners to place a half-mill property tax levy for roads on the ballot. The motion, which was advisory in nature, recommended a two-year span.

Although yesterday's division of the 15-mill non-voted levy won't become official until the board's next meeting May 25, the decision was regarded as final. Under the division, schools will receive 8.56 mills, the county 5.25 mills, townships one mill, and the intermediate school district .17 mill.

The South Haven and Gobles schools districts, however, will continue to receive 9.58 mills because both systems are city districts serving bi-county areas.

Covert township Supervisor Jerry Sarno, who cast the dissenting vote, promised to appeal the ruling to the state tax tribunal on the basis that townships did not receive a big enough share of the allocation.

In budgets submitted to the board, 17 of the county's 18 townships had asked for an additional half mill over the mill they are now getting to help the county road commission defray extra expenses from last winter's heavy snow. The other township, Pine Grove, asked for two mills for the same purpose.

Sarno said he would base his appeal on the fact that townships had demonstrated a need for the money and under law are responsible for maintenance of their local roads. He added that all the other units receive amounts in excess of the statutory minimum of mills that must be allocated.

Under the law, townships must receive one mill, schools four mills, the county three mills, and the intermediate district .10 mill.

Separate motions by Sarno yesterday to raise the township's share to 1.5 mills and cut the intermediate district's share to .12 mills both died for lack of a second.

Voting to retain the present formula, were Lawton school board member Jeannine Nesbitt; Martin VanStrien, Gobles, representing the county's cities; Decatur school board member Max Howe; Ivan Stein, South Haven, who represents rural areas; Supt. Ernest Shaw of the intermediate district; county Finance Chairman Gerald Rende of Gobles; and county Treasurer A.A. (Eddie) Smith.

County board Chairman Edwin Twitchell of South Haven indicated that in order to make next winter's tax collection, any proposal for additional road millage would have to be on the ballot by August. Twitchell said this was because the tax rolls are prepared in September.

Based on the county's 1978 state equalized valuation, a half mill would raise about $177,000.

Debate leading up to yesterday's decision was often heated, causing Howe to remark that he regretted that "polarization" had apparently set in between school and township officials.

Paul Kaiser, road commission engineer-manager, said that last winter's storms had cost the county $501,000 for snow and ice removal. He had said earlier that that figure was about $190,000 more than had been budgeted for clearing roads.

As a result, the road commission has been forced to halt all overtime, he said. With no weekend work, businesses and schools may have to close on Mondays when it snows next winter because roads won't be cleared, Kaiser said.

Based on present expenditures, "We'll be out of the maintenance business by Sept. 1," the road commission manager warned.

Stein was optimistic about the chances of a millage request.

"There's no question that as far as I'm concerned it can be passed if everyone gets out and works for it," he stated.

His optimism was not shared by Decatur township Supervisor Joseph Miller.

"Our people are up to here with taxes," said Miller, holding his hand at his throat.

During the debate, many township officials noted that the schools had as big a stake in the roads as any group.

"What good are schools and school buses if we don't have any roads to travel on?" questioned Hamilton township Supervisor Garrett Broekhuizen.

School officials argued that they could not afford to lose any of their allocated millage.

"We're one of those schools in the past that have had a good fund equity and could have given up something," said Hartford Supt. Gary Waterkamp. "But right now we're down to the wire."

Decatur Supt. Wayne Heltenaga added that although the county's SEV will go up about 17 per cent next year, schools would not really benefit since their state aid would drop proportionately.

"The increase in SEV doesn't do a thing for us except make our taxpayers mad," said Supt. Harold Garde of South Haven.

The subject of just how much money the schools had to operate on drew the anger of Sarno. He noted that in most of the school budgets submitted, there was no mention of either surpluses or fund equity.

"I understand some school districts' have fund equities of $500,000," he said.

Requests for allocated millage among schools ranged from 8.56 mills by three districts to 10.55 mills by Lawrence. The intermediate district had asked for .20 mill and the county for 5.5 mills.

A statement by Stein seemed to summarize the feeling of the allocation board.

"When you take money from one to give to another, somebody's going to have to go out and get more money," he said.

Find Dynamite At Eatery

INKSTER, Mich. (AP) — Federal officials are continuing a probe into possible links between the April bombing of a Mexican restaurant and a cache of dynamite that was seized there earlier this month. Police confiscated 250 sticks of dynamite bound into eight bombs from a car parked next to the Dos Gringos restaurant on May 6. Two reputed members of a motorcycle club have been charged with illegal possession of a destructive device in that incident. A state police bomb squad officer says the dynamite seized was similar to the six-fuse detonated bombs that exploded in the restaurant in April. The probe is being conducted by federal treasury agents.

Former ABA Clubs Having Financial Woes In NBA

NEW YORK (AP) — The four teams to survive the demise of the American Basketball Association are finding the price of survival to be costly indeed.

"Our four newest members have financial problems, in some instances quite serious problems," said National Basketball Association Commissioner Larry O'Brien, referring to the Denver Nuggets, Indiana Pacers, New York Nets and San Antonio Spurs. The problems, serious enough to force the teams to seek relief from the NBA, are an outgrowth of the agreement by which the four clubs became part of the league last summer.

In return for places in the pro basketball establishment, the four ex-ABA teams agreed to pay an entrance fee of $3.2 million each to buy out the Kentucky and St. Louis ABA clubs which were not part of the merger, to pay legal costs and fees needed to pave the way to merger, and to forego sharing in television revenues until the current contract with CBS is completed. These other factors push the entrance fee upwards of $5.5 million, not counting the lost TV revenue or the territorial indemnity — estimated at $2 million — the Nets had to pay the New York Knicks.

A payment of $200,000 per club, the last part of the $3.2 million, is due June 1. The four clubs asked for a delay, but were turned down by the league's finance and advisory committees.

"Since then, some of the clubs have requested the league review their situations individually in hopes that the league might consider some modifications," O'Brien said. "These reviews will take place at the annual Board of Governors meeting in San Diego June 14-17."

Built into the June 1 deadline is a 30-day grace period, so the teams don't actually have to come up with any money until June 30.

Denver led the league with attendance of over 700,000 but had to cancel a proposed stock sale because of a shaky financial outlook.

Indiana is up for sale, which is nothing new for that franchise. The Nets have always had money problems, or else they'd still have Julius Erving. And San Antonio, despite showing a profit for its first season in the NBA, has problems because of the commitments it made jointly with its other ex-ABA brethren.

"We have not had our head in the sand," O'Brien said. "We will make every effort to see that these problems are resolved."

"To this moment, the four teams have fulfilled all their obligations. They have acquitted themselves admirably as franchise members of the league."

Ali's Fighting Future Dubious Despite Unanimous Victory

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — Muhammad Ali still has some fights in his future, but with each outing the question grows over how much talent is left in the heavyweight champion.

Even Angelo Dundee, Ali's long-time trainer, found it difficult to evaluate the champ after he scored a unanimous 15-round decision Monday night over lightly regarded challenger Alfredo Evangelista of Spain.

"Is this the best he can do?" Dundee said. "Who knows? He's still a great fighter ... at 35, and still dancing like that. He was comfortable. Not breathing hard."

Like Dundee, Ali talked mostly of his ability to dance at the age of 35. No one in Ali's camp discussed his punching power, or lack of it.

The champion did most of his scoring with left jabs as he backpedaled across the ring in the Capital Centre, where a little more than a year ago he was awarded a controversial 15-round decision over Jimmy Young.

Ali weighed 221 1/2 for Evangelista, compared to 220 for the Young bout. But he didn't pack the punch to put away an opponent who only four times previously had only gone as many as eight rounds.

"I tried to knock him down but I couldn't do it," Ali confessed during his post-fight monologue which included a pitch for the upcoming motion picture based on his life and a needle for reporters who had previously downgraded Evangelista.

Dundee said he thought Ali made a definite effort to floor Evangelista in the eighth and ninth rounds, and claimed he almost succeeded once after the challenger missed a roundhouse left.

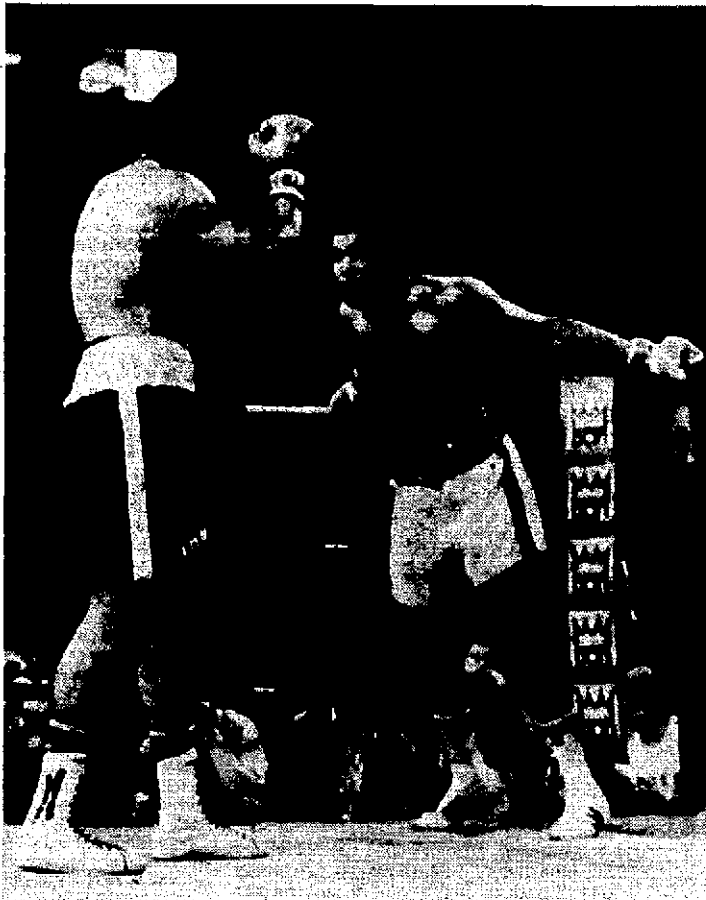

But the guy was awkward," Dundee said. "He covered pretty good, and Ali's not the greatest body banger in the world."

Referee Harry Cecchini scored the bout 71-85 for Ali, with judges Terry Moore and Ray Klingensmith each giving the champion a 72-44 edge.

Evangelista, through interpreter Eddie Mafuz, said he was happy he had proven a worthy challenger, but contended he would have won had the fight been held in Spain — where the native of Uruguay has become a naturalized citizen.

All, who is believed building up to a lucrative fourth bout with Ken Norton, will have to be much sharper in his next start. In his post-fight interview, Ali contended that negotiations were under way for him to face unbeaten Larry Holmes. That fight would be promoted by Don King, probably at the Meadowlands in N.J.

Before the fight, however, it was reported that Madison Square Garden in New York had all but lined up Earnie Shavers, a veteran slugger, to be Ali's next challenger.

Barnes Jailed, Appeal Denied

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — As the blue state-prison van pulled away from the curb, Marvin Barnes' girlfriend rubbed her tear-swollen eyes and his sister, Alfreda, shouted: "Marvin, we love you."

Barnes, a former Providence College basketball All-American and most recently a Detroit Pistons forward, sat calmly inside with his back to the door, his hands cuffed in his lap.

"I don't know what he's gonna be like when he comes out," said his mother, Laila, on Monday afternoon. "Going to prison makes you harder and meaner ... when you come out. It's a bad setup."

Inside the courthouse moments before, Superior Court Judge Anthony A. Giannini had denied Barnes' last-minute appeal to delay the start of a one-year prison sentence for a probation violation.

Barnes had the night before hired a new attorney, James L. Feinberg of Detroit, and the lawyer wanted more time to prepare. But, Giannini said any challenges to Barnes' 1974 assault conviction and subsequent sentence "may be pursued while he's incarcerated."

Barnes, dressed in a beige suit with a white shirt but no tie, was immediately turned over to three state marshals. They took Barnes into the anteroom next to Giannini's chamber and handcuffed the basketball player.

The 6-foot-9 Barnes, who is expected to serve only four months before becoming eligible for parole, refused all comment to reporters.

Barnes, 24, had been scheduled to surrender at 9 a.m. Monday. However, he did not arrive at the Providence courthouse until 1:30 p.m.

He was accompanied by his mother, sister, girlfriend Debra Santos and several friends.

Barnes had pleaded guilty in 1974 to assaulting Providence College teammate Larry Kivivirta with a tire iron and was given a one-year suspended sentence and placed on three years' probation.

Giannini ordered Barnes to serve the prison sentence after the young basketball star was arrested at a Detroit airport late last year for having an unloaded pistol in his luggage.

McLaughlin Stars Again

DOWAGIAC — Dowagiac took the first step down the tournament trail by blanking Comstock 6-0 behind Larry McLaughlin's three-hitter in a McLaughlin, a junior lefty, fanned 13 without giving up a walk while moving the Chiefs into the journey's pre-district round against Coloma on a date still undetermined.

Dowagiac, now 15-7 overall, got six hits, including a two-run homer by Kurt Cox and a solo roundtripper by Jeff Nate.

put on a dunk show before games, face a very unfunny situation tonight in their National Basketball Association series with the Houston Rockets.

The multi-talented Sixers, leading the series 3-1, had Houston down 17 points in the third quarter of Sunday's fifth game before the Rockets came back to win 118-115.

"Philadelphia is going to have a tough game Tuesday night," Rockets Coach Tom Nissalke said.

The Rockets, not even considered a playoff team before the regular season started, have refused to be counted out in the NBA Eastern Conference finals. A Houston victory tonight would even the series at 3-3 and force the deciding game Thursday night in Philadelphia.

"I didn't want to go out being humiliated," Rocket guard Calvin Murphy said. "Regardless of how good a team you have been throughout the season, people only remember the last game you play."

"We were on national television with millions of people watching, and I didn't want people to think we had that bad a team. I didn't want to leave that impression on the country."

The Sixers apparently got the wrong impression of the Rockets when Philadelphia took an 88-71 lead with 3 1/2 minutes left in the third quarter. So did the Sixers fans, who gave their team a standing ovation.

"We got the big lead and it was just too easy for us," Sixers forward George McGinnis said. "We messed around and lost the lead, and then when it was time for us to get going again late in the game, we couldn't do it."

Despite Houston's uprising, Sixers forward Julius Erving isn't worried. "You've got to be disappointed anytime you lose," said Erving, who left Sunday's game exhausted in the third quarter. "But you have to take it in stride and bounce back. We've got to go down there Tuesday."

"The coaches will make their evaluations and suggestions and we'll just try to get out and put them into practice. I'm not a worrier. I'm not going to worry myself sick over losing one game."

The eventual Eastern Conference winner will play Western Conference champion Portland in the NBA CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES BEGINNING Sunday.

Lerch Solid In Rotation Cubs Stretch Winning Streak To Five

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Philadelphia Phillies, riding a five-game winning streak, may have found a patch to keep together the quilt they call their starting rotation.

Relying on a rotation that includes sometimes four, sometimes five pitchers, Phils Manager Danny Ozark took a long look Monday night at rookie Randy Lerch. Lerch threw seven innings, picking up his fifth victory against two losses, and worked out of some tough situations while the Phils were beating Los Angeles 10-6.

In the fifth, Lerch found himself with none out and runners at second and third. Philadelphia led 7-5. But the gutsy rookie, a 6-foot-3 southpaw, struck out Steve Garvey, Rick Monday and Dusty Baker in succession, ending the threat.

"He just threw super pitches to those three hitters," said Phils catcher Bob Boone.

And Ozark added, "Maybe I ought to start him every fourth day instead of fifth."

The Phils — hurt in the stretch last year by inconsistent pitching — have been going with Lerch, Steve Carlton, Larry Christenson, Wayne Twitchell and sometimes veteran Jim Kaat as starters.

Of the five, only 1972 Cy Young Award winner Carlton, 5-1, and Lerch have winning marks. The 28-year-old Twitchell is 0-3 and Kaat is 0-1. Christenson has won three and lost three.

The Phils did their damage in the third, scoring five runs, two on Garry Maddox' single. Monday homered for Los Angeles in the eighth.

In the only other National League game, the Chicago Cubs beat San Diego 9-6. In the American League, Minnesota trounced Cleveland 8-1, Boston nipped California 8-7 in 11 innings, Seattle clipped Baltimore 8-3 and Oakland downed New York 8-4.

Gene Clines had four hits, including a two-run homer, and drove in five runs Monday and the Cubs stretched their winning streak to five games.

Clines doubled home a run in the first inning, homered in the third after Ivan DeJesus had doubled, singled for two more runs in the fifth and also singled in the seventh.

Clines' first homer since 1973, only the third of his major league career, triggered a four-run third inning which included a two-run triple by Steve Ontiveros.

Rookie Donnie Moore started for the Cubs but was chased in the fourth, when pinch-hitter Jerry Turner drove in two runs with a single. San Diego scored two more runs in the fifth on an infield single by Mike Champion, a triple by Dave Winfield and an error by catcher George Mitterwald, then added two more in the seventh on a walk, a double by Gene Tenace and a two-run single by Doug Rader.

Geoff Zahn, 6-1, went the route, despite sitting out a 1 hour, 43 minute rain delay, and scattered seven hits in Minnesota's victory over Cleveland and the Indians' $2 million right-hander, Wayne Garland, 1-5.

Red Carew had three hits and drove two runs in the Twins' fourth straight victory. The first-place Twins opened a twogame lead over idle Chicago in the AL West.

Denny Doyle singled home Dwight Evans with two out in the 11th inning, giving Boston its victory after the Red Sox had squandered a 7-3 lead in the ninth.

California sent the game into extra innings on Bobby Grich's RBI single and a bases-loaded triple by Gil Flores in the ninth.

George Scott had two solo homers for Boston, and Evans and Jim Rice also homered.

Lee Stanton cracked a three-run double in the seventh, and the Mariners roughed up Jim Palmer, 5-3, for three runs in the second on only two singles.

Wayne Gross smacked his 10th homer, tying him for the AL lead with Chicago's Richie Zisk, and Earl Williams homered in Oakland's victory over the Yankees, who slipped to third in the East, a half-game behind Baltimore and Boston.

COMMENCEMENT, BACCALAUREATE Galien Okays Joint Event

GALIEN — The Galien high school senior class will hold a joint baccalaureate-commencement program this year, much to the chagrin of the Galien school board.

The board voted last night to suspend an existing policy that provides for separate programs for the two ceremonies after learning that a joint, June 7, ceremony has already been planned.

William Tyus, an administrative assistant for student affairs, apologized for what he termed a "misunderstanding" about board policy.

At the April meeting, Tyus asked the board for permission to contact parents and seniors to see if they wanted joint or separate ceremonies.

Board members last night said they thought Tyus would come back to the board for final approval before making any plans. But he didn't.

Board members blamed the mixup on misunderstanding and a lack of information about board policy.

In other action, the board voted to begin preparing an application for federal public works employment funds for a major renovation to the South school building.

School officials have not determined how much they will seek, but Dr. Robert Tilman, superintendent, said that if funds are approved, the school would add a multi-purpose room, remodel the old gym into an instructional materials center; raise and rebuild the east wing; add on to and renovate the kitchen; relocate and rebuild the boilers; and erect a skyway between the South and North buildings.

Also last night, the board gave pay raises to administrators, secretaries and some department heads.

Administrators given pay hikes were Tania Hunerjager, director of community education, whose salary was boosted from $15,974 to $16,900; and Jerry Hess, director of guidance and counseling, from $13,870 to $13,900.

Secretaries and others who got raises were:

Martha Burns, secretary to the administrative assistant, salary boosted from $5,966 to $6,300; Darlene Lockwood, secretary to superintendent, from $6,237 to $7,064; Corrine Buck, instructional materials center coordinator, from $6,110 to $6,318; Nancy Wright, cafeteria coordinator, from $2,607 to $3,275; Barbara Warren, secretary to the guidance and athletic directors, from $2,608 (for a half year) to $5,330; Marie Wolford, bookkeeper, from $10,883 to $11,650; Vic Wolford, director of transportation and administration, from $11,665 to $12,300; and Vic Wolford's assistant, his son Dale, from $9,405 to $10,200.

The board also set the school calendar for the 1977-78 school year, with school scheduled to begin for a half day on Sept. 6 and to end on June 8.

Hagar Houses To Come Down

Four Hagar township houses extensively damaged by fire within the past two years were recommended for demolition by a township hearing board last night.

The recommendations came during a public hearing on six houses cited by the township building inspector under a township ordinance against dangerous and unsafe buildings.

The owner of one of the two remaining houses was given a grace period to submit renovation plans for the structures involved on her property. The sixth owner was given time to tear the structure down himself.

Under the hearing board recommendations, the cost of demolition would be assessed against the property. The recommendations for demolition are to be submitted to the township board at the board's June 13 meeting.

The hearing board, created under the building ordinance, did grant the owners of one of the houses recommended for demolition a grace period to improve another structure on the same property.

The owners were identified by the township as Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huffman. The grace period was for the former Big Ten motel building off US-33. The house to be demolished is located near the former motel.

The owners and locations of the other three houses recommended for demolition, according to township records are Mrs. Nellie Travis, for a house on Ohio street; Mike Turlin, for a house on Taube road; and Mrs. Connie Williams for a house on Superior street.

The owner granted a grace period to submit renovation plans was identified as Miss Frances DeBorde, Chicago, for several buildings she owns off US-33 at Superior. Under the board order she was given a "less than 30-day" grace period. No deadline was set however.

The board granted Manuel Friedenberg, of Baroda, up to 30 days to undertake demolition of a structure on his property located at the southern end of Huron street.

According to board members, the structure has been vacant several years and is in need of numerous repairs. Friedenberg agreed with the board and volunteered to tear the structure down.

The hearing board is made up of Edward Hagen, hearing officer, Edward Broderick, township supervisor, Anthony Sineni, planning commission representative, Floyd Elson, building inspector, and John Bergstedt, township trustee met in the Hagar township hall.

Two Seek One Seat In Covert

COVERT — Two people filed petitions for one, four-year seat on the Covert school board prior to yesterday's deadline.

Filing for the June 13 election were incumbent Donald Quinn Jr., M-140, and challenger Gregory Tischer, 75th street. The deadline was later than other school districts because Covert is a non-registered voting district.

Fennville's New Budget Will Be $73,000 Lower

FENNVILLE — The Fennville city commission last night adopted a 1977-78 budget of $120,046, down some $73,000 from the 1976-77 budget of $193,329.

Commissioner Ned Bale, the council's budget and finance committee chairman, said the 14-mill property tax levy, the same as 1976-77, should produce about $75,000 in local tax funds in the coming year towards the budget.

He said the city should probably end the current fiscal year on June 30 with a cash balance of about $30,000, and coupled with anticipated income in the coming year of some $210,000 in local, state and federal funds, should end the 1977-78 fiscal year with a cash balance of about $128,000.

Part of the reason for the financial outlook stemmed from a city decision not to have a full-time police officer this coming year (a savings of $18,000), and because the ambulance service has become self-sufficient (a savings of $13,000), Bale said.

He added that a 1976-77 expense of sewer work on 58th street north of M-89 has been paid for, providing another 1977-78 budget reduction.

But Mayor Robert McCracken said the city already has a use for any budget surpluses.

He said the city wants to finish sewer work on 58th street south of M-89, and pave 58th street north of M-89 in August or September of this year.

"We have no way of knowing how much these projects are going to cost us until bids are received. The $128,000 surplus should go a long way in paying the city share of these bills with a minimum of bonding necessary," the mayor said.

In other areas, John Kelly, director of the area ambulance service, said the ambulance budget for the coming year is $16,324, up from the $13,000 budget for 1976-77. He said revenues have been projected at $22,000.

Pete Ridgeway, city maintenance supervisor, told the council that an engineering firm has said preliminary studies indicate the city can increase the capacity of its four city water wells by 200 per cent through larger pumps.

City officials have been worried about the drain on water supplies in the summer when Michigan Fruit Canners gets into processing and uses great quantities of water.

The council referred to its parks committee a request from Mrs. Helen Bashford of the Fennville Chamber of Commerce that the city improve the railroad crossing near the Standard Oil station by cutting the grass and putting in gravel and hanging baskets from light poles.

Gobles Board Leaves Decision To Coaches

GOBLES — The Gobles school board in a split vote last night left it up to coaches to determine whether all players on seventh and eighth grade teams should play in every game of athletic competition.

The board had scheduled the special meeting after some parents had complained that some youngsters attending practices were not playing in games because of the emphasis on winning.

The vote was 5-2, with board members Mary Sutherby and Ralph Fawley voting against the majority.

They contended, Mrs. Sutherby said today, that the stress should be put on physical education and not on winning.

Board members who voted in favor of letting coaches determine who should participate in games were board members Carl W. Gilbert, Clyde Crawford, Linda Hurst, Richard Markus and Roy Dietrich.

When there are special instructions you should know about a prescription, they will be explained to you only by the pharmacist on duty and if there is ever a question about a prescription, your physician will be consulted.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?"

Dowagiac Set To Open Bids

DOWAGIAC — The Dowagiac school board last night set a special meeting for Thursday, at 7:30 p.m., to open bids on construction of a new high school auto repair shop classroom. The 50 by 150-foot building will be erected on the southwest corner of Prairie Road and Lowe streets and will cost an estimated $275,000, school officials said when they approved the building plan in April. Construction will be paid for from existing funds, school officials have said.

In other action, the board voted to rescind a March board action setting up a census of the school district. In its place, the board will conduct a census based on information taken at pupil registration. School officials said the action will save the district $5,000. State officials want local districts to try and determine student populations of their districts to include those under 26 who are in need of special education.

The board also voted to continue, at a cost of $6,000, the school's membership in the Regional Educational Materials center located in Herron Springs; set the 1977-78 school calendar, with school starting on Sept. 6 and ending June 8; and heard a report that teacher aides and hall supervisors will vote June 6 on whether to organize under the Michigan Education Associates Organization.

Buchanan Kindergarten Roundup Is Wednesday

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan school's annual kindergarten roundup has been scheduled for Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., in the gymnasium at Macassin elementary school, according to William Fischer, elementary coordinator.

All children in the Buchanan school district who will be five years old by Oct. 15 should be registered at this time if they are to enter school in September.

Parents who will be unable to enroll their children on May 18, may do so at the office of any of the elementary schools between the hours of 1 to 4 p.m. any school day until June 9, Fischer said.

When being enrolled, a child must be accompanied by a parent, who must submit the child's birth certificate. Immunization forms will be given to the parent to be filled out by a doctor and returned before the child may enter school in September.

During the day there will be a bus at the school to give children rides so they may become familiar with the bus and learn about bus safety rules.

There will be baby animals at the school from the school farm, and the kindergarten teachers will be present to explain various kindergarten activities. Parents will participate with the children. Children will receive refreshments.

U.S.-Soviet N-War Would Destroy Both?

By MAUREEN SANTINI
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A major nuclear conflict between the United States and the Soviet Union would destroy both great powers no matter what kind of defenses they erect, a congressional committee concludes.

The Joint Committee on Defense Production declared in a report issued Monday that the much-touted Soviet civil and industrial defenses would not provide the Russian population or industry with any reliable protection against U.S. strategic forces. Nor could the United States satisfactorily protect its economy as a superpower, even if it spent huge sums of money constructing industrial defenses, the committee said.

"We said it doesn't matter who comes off the more bloodied, but whether either could continue to operate as a major power after a nuclear attack," said William H. Kincaid, the committee's staff director. "We concluded neither could," he said.

Anti-Crime Planners Ask Public To Attend

The Advisory Crime commission of the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission will meet at the Berrien county juvenile center, Dean's Hill road, Berrien township, Wednesday at 8:30 a.m. The public is invited to attend the meeting, according to Beth Walter, senior planner for the regional planning commission. The crime commission is made up of 41 Berrien, Cass and Van Buren law enforcement and court officials, she said. On the agenda will be a discussion about whether to enlarge membership to include more citizen representatives than the one citizen representative currently on the commission, she said.

Ex-SJ Man Aide To Congressman

Michael E. Serpe, formerly of St. Joseph, has been named administrative assistant to U.S. Rep. Nick J. Rahall, a West Virginia Democrat.

Serpe, 25, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Serpe, 1337 Lewis avenue, St. Joseph. He graduated from Benton Harbor high school in 1970 and received a bachelor of arts degree in political science from John Carroll university in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1974.

In the fall of 1974, he joined the campaign staff of U.S. Rep. Richard F. VanderVeen, who had earlier replaced then-President Gerald R. Ford as Michigan's Fifth District representative.

After VanderVeen's 1974 victory, Serpe joined the congressman as a legislative assistant. In 1976, he directed VanderVeen's unsuccessful campaign for re-election.

This January, Serpe joined the staff of Rep. Rahall, who at 27 is the youngest member of the U.S. Congress. Until his appointment as administrative assistant this month, Serpe was Rahall's press assistant. Serpe will continue to perform both duties in Rahall's Washington office.

As administrative assistant, he will coordinate the operations of the Washington office and four district offices in West Virginia. A staff of 15 people will report to Serpe.

Cancer Drive Passes $18,000

The Berrien County Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society, 1501 Niles avenue, St. Joseph, has reached 39 1/2 per cent of its 1977 goal of $46,385, C. Stuart Siebert, county crusade chairman, has announced.

Siebert, president of Siebert-Netted Marketing Services, Benton Harbor, revealed that contributions to date total $18,394.

The residential phase, under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Reimers, St. Joseph, is now in full swing. Mrs. Reimers' area chairmen include Mrs. Bruno (Edith) Nickel, St. Joseph township, northern third of Berrien county; Mrs. Phillip (Jeanne) Merkel, Berrien Springs, middle third; and Mrs. Arthur (Edna Mae) Howell, Galien, southern Berrien county.

"The house-to-house solicitation in our county thus far has been outstanding — substantially ahead of last-year to date," Siebert commented.

He added, "12,000 mailings are now also getting out to parts of the cities of St. Joseph and Niles and all of Benton Harbor and New Buffalo not covered by individual volunteer crusade workers."

Continuing, "With these mailings, plus door-to-door visitations, we hope for 100 per cent coverage of Berrien county. And we trust these 12,000 households who receive mailings will be equally generous in their giving to the cancer crusade."

Siebert also revealed that letters are now being prepared to reach businesses, large and small, located in Berrien communities.

"If the reaction from industry is as good as we hope it will be, we should attain our 1977 goal of $46,385," he concluded.

Benton Harbor Kills High-Rise Project

The Benton Harbor city commission last night killed a proposal to build a $5.4 million subsidized high-rise apartment complex for senior citizens on vacant urban renewal land near the old fruit market site.

The commission voted 6 to 0 to deny a request for a public hearing on the proposal by Multi-Rise Associates, the Southfield development firm proposing to build the 200-unit apartment complex.

The site Multi-Rise wanted for the apartments was approximately five acres between Colfax avenue and Eighth street bordered by Britain avenue on the south and Market street on the north.

Commissioner Michael Govatos said the city already had enough housing for senior citizens and said construction of the new apartments would require "importing people to fill it up." Benton Harbor has 100 public housing units for the elderly at Harbor Towers on Wall street.

City commissioners had met with Burling Doolittle, a "packager" for Multi-Rise Associates, at several commission workshop meetings. Doolittle told commissioners the apartments would be constructed with financing through the Michigan State Housing Development Authority and said the developers would seek a property tax abatement from the city.

Doolittle, who was not present last night, also had told commissioners senior citizens would receive a federal subsidy for a portion of their approximately $300 a month rent. Under the property tax abatement, the developers, who would also manage the apartment operation, would pay a charge for services offered by the city, such as police and fire protection, in lieu of paying property taxes.

City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr. said last night that the developer's proposal was not an "equitable split." He said under the property tax abatement, the developers would pay only $27,000 a year in lieu of property taxes for services offered by the city. That $27,000, Farmer said, would have to be split among the local taxing entities, the city, schools and county.

Multi-Rise Associates had offered $71,000 for the land, according to Farmer, but the city did not accept the offer or grant an option on the land.

The city is currently negotiating with the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to purchase the proposed parcel along with the entire 41 acres of urban renewal land located in the old fruit market and River-view drive area.

Voting last night to deny the request for a public hearing were Commissioners Govatos, Charles Yarbrough, Norval Weiss, Tommie Parks, Mildred Wells, and Edmund Eaman, who chaired the meeting last night.

Absent last night were Mayor Joel Patterson and Commissioners Arnold Bolin and Alfred Williams. Mayor Patterson and Bolin were attending mayor exchange day activities in Portage. Commissioner Norval Weiss reported last night that Williams, who has been absent from city commission meetings since Jan. 31, expected to return to the commission next week. Williams, 69, of 760 Wauconda, was recently released from Hines Veterans' hospital in Illinois where he underwent surgery. He was admitted to the hospital Feb. 11.

In other business, the commission voted not to accept an offer for the city to purchase the former Hennes store building at 134-138 Pipestone street for $1 plus payment of delinquent property taxes for 1974, 1975 and 1976, which amount to $4,238.

The offer to sell the building to the city was made by the owner identified as Mrs. Suzanne Brown Ireland.

Commissioner Govatos said the city should not accept the offer because it would cost an additional $28,555 to repair the building. The building and property, which have an appraised value of $30,000, will revert to the state because of unpaid property taxes in 1978, if the 1974 taxes are not paid, Govatos said.

SJ Township Spending Defended

Berrien county Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke "got his facts wrong" two weeks ago when he criticized the St. Joseph township board for spending too much money, township Clerk Bill Payne Smith said last night.

Smith chose last night's regular board meeting to respond to statements made by Kesterke at a meeting of Concerned United Taxpayers (CUT). At the time, Kesterke said he was a member of the newly-formed citizens group. He lives in St. Joseph township.

According to a Herald-Palladium account of the CUT meeting, which Smith referred to last night, Kesterke said that township residents might have voted too much money for the township board. He also was quoted as saying that the township's current budget for administration jumped by about 50 per cent over the previous year.

Smith said administrative costs — salaries, office expenses, supplies — increased only 13.1 per cent over the past year. Those expenses totaled $89,700 last year and will total $112,800 this year, Smith said.

Smith answered Kesterke's other criticism by drawing on his experience as a board member since 1970. In terms of millage, the township spreads a lower tax now than it did in 1970, according to Smith.

The current millage of 5.75 compares to the 6.5 mills that residents were paying when Smith became a board member, he said. The decrease has come from a drop in the water assessment, he said.

correctly reported in The Herald-Palladium that the idea for the newsletter was his. "The idea has been kicking around the township for two or three years," he said. Benson has wanted a newsletter, but it write some of the stories. Layout and printing will be done by a professional firm for about $314 an issue, while postage will cost $300, address labels $24 and post office permits $60. An attempt to get local firms

County Clerk's Criticism Called Inaccurate About Budget, Taxes

Smith made the remarks in the middle of a discussion about whether the township should become a charter township.

Mrs. Judy Ford, president of CUT and a participant in the discussion, said Kesterke should have been present at the meeting to defend his statements.

Smith disagreed, saying "we weren't at this (CUT) meeting to answer his carte blanche statements."

Board members and Mrs. Ford agreed that no action should be taken on the issue of changing from a general law township to a charter township. All Michigan townships with populations over 5,000 have been asked by the secretary of state to decide if they want to become charter townships.

Mrs. Ford said she is against the change because charter townships can levy up to 5 mills in taxes without the approval of the residents.

Township Supervisor Orval Benson, who first pointed out that the tax can be levied without voter approval, said that was the main difference between charter and general law townships.

Benson and Smith said they saw no advantage to changing the status of the township. However, both said they might change their minds if the state legislature passes a bill that makes it illegal for a municipality to annex any part of a charter township.

Also at the meeting the board gave unanimous approval to Manager Isadore DiMaggio to spend $680 to layout, print and distribute 4,000 newsletters to township residents.

DiMaggio said it was in-wasn't until DiMaggio was hired as manager that anyone had time to do the job, DiMaggio said.

After seeing how the public responds to the first newsletter, the board will decide how often to print it.

DiMaggio said that because of expense, the newsletter probably wouldn't be published any more often than once every two months.

The format will be a 10-inch by 14-inch piece of paper folded in half, he said. Stories will include reports from township committees, feature articles discussing new things in the township, photos and a list of upcoming meetings. There will be no editorials, he said.

DiMaggio added that he will to help underwrite the project has been unsuccessful so far, he said. The first issue will be delivered around the first of June, he said.

Also last night Treasurer Robert DeVries Sr. said he thinks the township is making a mistake by not granting a variance hearing before the township zoning board of appeals to Nye's Orchards.

DeVries said that Atty. Jerrold Nye has requested the hearing. He is appealing a March 3 decision of the township planning commission turning down Nye's request for a zoning change that would have allowed smaller lots next to the expensive homes in the Highlands Estates subdivision.

"I think our ordinance gives

BILL PAYNE SMITH
Clerk replies to clerk

him a right to a hearing," said DeVries, adding that the township should be scrupulously fair because "I think we are headed for the courts on this one."

Benson responded that before denying the request for a hearing, township Atty. John Crow had researched the matter.

Also last night the board appointed Orville Owings, of 173 Brownway, Fairplain, to the vacancy on the planning commission.

Residents Ask Crackdown On Activities At BH Park

A member of a Benton Harbor neighborhood block club asked Benton Harbor city commissioners last night to crack down on loitering and alleged drugs at the fieldhouse at Broadway park.

Mrs. Shirley Sanders, secretary of the block club for the 900 to 1000 block of Pavone street, said neighbors have found "needles and syringes" in the restroom facility and have seen young men "taking young women into the building."

City officials said they plan to demolish the building and will attempt to board it up until it's demolished. "That building is nothing but an invitation for dope addicts and pushers," Commissioner Tommie Parks said. "We don't want that kind of situation to exist."

Parks commended neighbors for bringing the problem to the attention of the city and urged residents observing similar problems to notify the police and city commissioners.

Broadway park is between Pavone and Broadway in the Second Ward which Parks represents on the commission.

Mrs. Sanders also presented the city commission with a petition with 27 names asking that the city install two street lights, speed limit signs and trim tree limbs around existing street lights in their neighborhood. The 900 to 1000 block of Pavone is located between Empire and May streets.

South Haven Hospital's Workers Get 7% Pay Hike

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — A seven percent across-the-board wage increase for employees of South Haven Community hospital received approval from the hospital's board of directors last night.

The wage increase is part of a pact negotiated by the board's personnel committee and the hospital's 150 full-time employees who are not affiliated with any outside union.

The wage increase is retroactive to March 1 and will run through June 30, 1978, according to Administrator Wayne Eagleson.

The pact also increases the hospital's commitment to match employee's contributions to the pension fund from three to five per cent.

Other new features of the pact include a broader interpretation of overtime pay, establishment of two levels of nursing aides and creates provisions for allowing employees to be late for work without a loss in pay due to hazardous driving conditions caused by the weather.

Despite the apparent favorable new pact, Eagleson confirmed reports that some employees are seeking to become affiliated with the Service Employees International union. He said some employees are circulating materials seeking an election to become unionized.

In other matters, the board scheduled a special meeting for next Monday at 8 p.m. to consider awarding the contract for architectural services for a proposed $1,060,000 addition and remodeling project.

Building committee chairman Henry Compton reported last night that it appears the board will be asked to approve a construction management concept and retain Hospital Building Equipment, Inc. of St. Louis, Mo. for the architectural services.

The firm developed the preliminary plans for the project and believes the work could be out for bid within 90 days if they are retained, Compton reported. He said inquiries with other interested architectural firms revealed it would take them approximately six months before construction could begin and most likely this would delay the start of work until the spring of 1978. Compton, a contractor himself, estimated this delay would increase costs five to seven percent.

Compton reported the building committee is still negotiating the fee, noting the company is seeking 10 percent of the construction cost.

However, the company has guaranteed costs will not exceed $1,050,000 and if it does the overage will not be the hospital's liability.

In a related matter, Eagleson reported that state health and fire officials will not approve the new construction until the board agrees to bring conditions in the existing building up to standards. He estimated this could increase the construction project cost by as much as $100,000.

The board voted 12 to 1 to allow Dr. Siraj Norani, an internist, and Dr. Milan Qayyum, a pediatrician, to continue to use office space at the hospital free of charge. The board previously had told the doctors they would have to vacate the offices by July 1. The doctors will be allowed to use the offices until a new private medical building now under construction is completed or until the new construction at the hospital begins. The doctors said they were having trouble finding office space.

Tom Betz, the Columbia township representative on the board, cast the dissenting vote, saying he believed the board should offer the same extension to the Van Buren County Mental Health services which has been told to relocate by July 1. No reason for not offering the same extension to the mental health service was given.

The board reaffirmed the purposes of its medical advisory committee as the communication link between themselves and the hospital's medical staff. Eagleson sought the affirmation, saying some physicians did not believe their concerns were being presented to the board-at-large.

The board noted that minutes of meetings by the committee are circulated to the entire board. At the same time, board member Alvin Novak reported that attendance by the physicians at committee meetings has been poor.

"Some of the medical staff want to dictate policy that is the board's authority," said hospital board chairman Fred Zook.

"We have an established line of communication and they should use it."

The board authorized expenditure of $2,300 to upgrade the telephone system.

Eagleson reported that patient occupancy continues to increase. Occupancy in April averaged 57 percent compared to 36 percent for the same month a year ago.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Slowing away aboard a bus and an elevated train, a seven-year-old Grand Rapids runaway made it from his home to Evanston, Ill., in 12 hours. Eric Penn was found wandering the streets of Evanston, a Chicago suburb, by some Northwestern University students on Sunday night. "He was tired little boy," said Evanston Police Sgt. Richard Ayers after the students turned Eric in. "All he wanted to do was just go somewhere and sleep."

Ayers said Eric told him he slipped out of his house Sunday

New Postal Rate Hike Is Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service probably will begin work within 60 days to hike first-class postal rates as much as three cents while cutting deliveries to five days a week, Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar says.

The increase for a first-class letter would be from the current 13 cents to 15 cents, or 16 cents if six-day delivery is maintained, he said.

Bailar promised "corresponding increases" for other classes of mail.

The postmaster general said the higher rates probably will take effect in the second quarter of 1978 and the delivery cuts in the first months of the year.

Private Control Is Urged For Ann Arbor Line

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A new private company — not Conrail — should operate the 300-mile Ann Arbor Railroad, according to a state panel.

The Public Transportation Council said Monday that the Michigan Interstate Railway Co. should get control of the state-owned line.

Since April 1976, it has been operated by Conrail, a federally created rail company.

Subsidies to the rail line would be reduced by $2 million a year under its operation, the private railway company estimated. Last year, state and federal subsidies to Conrail amounted to $5.5 million.

The state Highway Commission still must approve the transfer, which would take effect Oct. 1.

Conrail took control of about 500 miles of bankrupt railroads in Michigan last year. The Ann Arbor line, which runs from Toledo, Ohio, to Frankfort, Mich., was the longest stretch.

FDA Says Liver Paste Dangerous

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has issued a warning that cans of imported French liver pate (paste) bearing establishment numbers "2401-C" and "2401-D" should be considered dangerous and not eaten.

The canned liver products may pose a health hazard due to potential growth of the bacteria that causes botulism. The USDA is contacting distributors and retailers who may have suspected cans, and said consumers who have already bought such products are advised to return them to the store where purchased.

The gourmet items are marketed under such labels as "Oven-Baked Pate," "Bloc de Foie Gras Truffe," and "Pate Maison with Truffles." Cans sizes range from 1 1/2 ounces to two pounds and three ounces. The USDA warning said all the involved products are produced by Rougie-Vives of Carlux, France.

Establishment numbers are printed on the labels and also embossed on the cans.

LAWRENCE — A Lawrence man was listed in serious condition at Bronson hospital in Kalamazoo this morning with what Van Buren sheriff's deputies described as a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head.

Deputies said Emrak Robert Cassada, 66, of 1021 North Paw Paw street, was discovered in the kitchen of his home last night with a gunshot wound in his lower jaw and mouth area. A 20-gauge shotgun was found near by, deputies said.

Deputies, who assisted Lawrence police in the investigation, reported they were told Cassada had been despondent over his recent retirement.

The shooting was listed as an attempted suicide in a report filed by Sgt. John Gaborik, a sheriff's deputy.

You get more work out of your copier by spending less time with the originals.

The people who manufacture copiers rate the speed of their machines by how fast they make many copies from one original. But, the people who use those machines, don't use them that way at all! Most people copy several originals at a time. The result is there's a big difference between "rated" time and "real" time. That difference is the time wasted positioning originals, opening and closing covers, pushing buttons, waiting for each copy cycle to complete, etc., etc.

The new Savin 780 plain paper copier lives up to its rating of 20 copies per minute. It gets it out as fast as you can get it in. Our machine has a document feed that automatically positions and transports each original through the copier. There are no buttons to keep pushing, no covers to keep opening and closing — no shuffling of papers. The Xerox 3100 "rated" at 20 copies per minute, the Xerox 4000 "rated" at 45 copies per minute and the Xerox 3600 "rated" at 60 copies per minute in "real" terms will on the average, copy only 5 different originals in a minute — and that's the real story on "real" time!

Circuit Judges Put Three Men On Probation Terms

A Bainbridge township man was ordered to spend the first 30 days of his probation in the county jail during sentencing yesterday in Berrien Circuit court. He was one of three men to receive probation sentences.

Sentenced to two years probation and the jail term by Judge Julian E. Hughes was Michael A. Koroch, 18, of 6100 East Empire avenue, for attempted larceny from a motor vehicle. He was charged with attempting to steal a radio from a car in Benton township March 30.

Hughes also assessed $250 fine and costs, and told Koroch to spend the last 30 days of probation in jail, but added that jail term could be waived if Koroch does an "excellent" job on probation.

Judge Hughes sentenced Chad R. Baumgart, 21, of South Bend, to five years probation for receiving and concealing stolen property valued at more than $100. He was accused of possessing three stolen, custom-made rifles Jan. 15, 1976, in Niles. Hughes also ordered Baumgart to make restitution for the rifles which have not been recovered, but no dollar amount was set.

Esler Bowles, Jr., 19, of 932 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, was placed on three years probation and assessed $250 fine and costs by Judge Chester J. Byrns for unlawful use of an

George E. Grosse, 20, of Three Oaks, pleaded innocent to two charges of assault with a deadly weapon. He is charged with assaulting James Kulper and William Kulper with a shotgun April 23 in Three Oaks.

EXECUTED: Irish Republican Army guerrillas said Monday they "executed" British Army Capt. Robert Lawrence Nairac, above. No indication was given where the body of the British officer, who was kidnapped Saturday, could be found. (AP Wirephoto)

Windows and door glass valued at over $500 were broken at Lafayette and North Shore elementary schools over the weekend, Benton township police were told.

Ernest Tarzwell, principal of both schools in the Benton Harbor district, said an apparent attempt to break windows for the purpose of entering Lafayette school was aborted Saturday evening when neighbors heard the sounds of breaking glass and called police.

Tarzwell found two room windows broken. He returned to the school Sunday evening and found a glass entrance door shattered and five small windows in the library broken, he said. Damage to the school, located at 885 North Shore drive, was estimated at $250, he said. Monday morning it was discovered that two plate glass windows, each six feet and valued at $150 each, had been cracked by BB pellets at North Shore school, 2100 North Shore drive, he said.

Police Accuse Covert Man

SOUTH HAVEN — A Covert man was to be arraigned today in Seventh District court here on a charge of breaking and entering after South Haven police said they interrupted an apparent illegal entry of a South Haven auto dealership early today.

Police said they arrested Nathaniel Erwin, 22, while investigating a reported break-in at the Decker Olds-Cadillac dealership, 615 Phillips street, shortly before 1 a.m.

Police said a neighbor reported seeing a man in the building. Officers said entry was gained by breaking a window to a door. A man was observed inside the building by officers. It did not appear as if anything had been taken, police said.

Flying Blade Felt Like A 'Ball Bat'

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer
DOWAGIAC — "I thought someone had hit me with a baseball bat."

That's how Dick Peck, 55, owner of Peck's Standard service station, 611 Front street, here, described how it felt when he was struck by a steel fan blade that broke loose from a passing beer truck.

Peck was treated and released from Lee Memorial hospital, Dowagiac, after receiving 10 stitches to close the wound to the back of his shoulder.

Dowagiac police said the Nate Beverage Inc., beer truck was headed south on North Front street around 3:45 p.m., when one of the fan blades broke off the truck's radiator fan, going through the side of the truck and striking Peck.

Peck, who is recovering from kidney surgery, had just stopped by his station and was standing next to a car being serviced when he was hit by the fan blade.

The force of the blow knocked Peck down. "It just stunned me for awhile," he said. Peck said he was quite sore this morning but had no broken bones from the incident.

Death Ray Still 10 Years Away

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

Defense scientists predict it will take at least 10 more years to produce a U.S. weapon that can burn into enemy missiles, satellites and warplanes with concentrated light beams.

They also indicated that an even more exotic "charged particle" beam weapon, a "death ray" that spews streams of tiny electronic pellets, is many years away in the indefinite future, for either the United States or the Soviet Union.

The United States is spending about $150 million this year on laser research and only about $7.5 million on the charged particle work, the scientists said.

The scientists discussed the two areas of advanced weapons research Monday at a briefing obviously intended to underscore the Carter administration's efforts to refute a published report that says the Soviets have scored a breakthrough in physics. A technical magazine article said this development might endanger the U.S. missile force.

President Carter and Defense Secretary Harold Brown already have said there is no evidence of such a breakthrough and their statements were echoed by the defense scientists.

The scientists did say, however, that the Russians also are pursuing what the scientists described as an active program to develop a high intensity laser, or light beam, weapon. But one of the U.S. scientists said: "It's tough to judge who is ahead."

The Defense Department scientists, who asked to remain anonymous, said the Soviets are carrying on a bigger effort than the United States to explore "charged particle" beam technology, but "we have no knowledge that there is any Soviet work specifically directed at charged particle weapons."

PHILLY TO GET CENTER?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Financier, former publisher and one-time ambassador Walter Annenberg is considering Philadelphia as a home for the proposed multimillion-dollar art-communications center that New York snubbed.
